VARIETY.

BENEFIT OF ADVERTISING. Of all the facilities for business, afforded by newspapers, the advertising columns afford the greatest. They put it into every man's power to send his business card into houses and families; to make himself ever present to speak for his own cause, whenever the discussion of a subject interesting to himself comes up. If he is a dry goods dealer, and in the family sewing circle the want of any article is spoken of, the ready newspaper tells the story, and directs them where they may at once supply themselves. The stove dealer, the coal dealer, the milliner, tailor, shoemaker, grocer, baker, and in fact every tradesman or dealer, whose craft ministers to the comfort or necessaries of the family or individual, finds his best and surest friend in the NEWSPAPER.

The dullest times are precisely those when a man should advertise the most. If the customer has little money to expend, he very naturally looks about him to see where that little can be disbursed to the most advantage. To roam about town and make enquiries, costs more than it comes to; consequently, that tradesman who publishes his terms and his wares, is sure of ten times in all cases, and in many, of ten times one hundred, the amount of the sum invested .- New York Dispatch.

A HARD CASE. A well educated young man of Baltimore, a few years since, at twenty-eight years of age, married a beautiful wife, a native of England, of handsome expectations. About two years after his marriage, his wife's father died, and he was invited to England, to receive his wife's portion of the estate of the deceased. He accepted the invitation, left his wife under the protection of an "intimate friend," went to England, received his wife's portion, and a letter from an American friend; returned in obedience to the suggestions of the letter, found his infant son in the orphan asylum, and learned that his wife had gone off with his friend. He went in search of her in different places, and finally arrived at St. Louis in a state of despair, joined some loose companions, entered a house of illfame, and there found his faithless wife, on a ruffian's lap, who was feasting on the bloom of that cheek, which he himself would not have suffered the winds of heaven to visit roughly. He rushed from the house in a state of distraction, and the next morning found him at the police office, charged with being drunk and disturbing the peace. His sufferings being greater than the justice could inflict, he was discharged.

CROPPING A MAN. An individual in Ohio recently caught another person milking his neighbor's cows, and before he was aware of his approach, severed off a portion of his ear. He then took the piece to a magistrate to have the mark recorded, when the latter told him he was liable to imprisonment in the penitentiary for the act. He became alarmed, and offered the maimed person sixty dollars to settle it, but as the latter refused to take less than five hundred dollars, and obtained a warrant against him, the other ran off, and has not since been heard

How shall we judge of a tree but by its fruit? or how shall we judge of a man or a society, except by their works, for the scripture saith by their fruits ye shall know them, therefore, if we have a right to judge, we should suppose by recent occurrences that were abolitionists to succeed in those endeavors which they have been long struggling to accomplish -to liberate at once all the slaves of the south, they will also bring about a set of wandering

No man ever fails to think less of himself after, than he did before one; it degrades him in his own eyes, and in the eyes of others, and what is worse blunts his insensibility to disgrace on the one hand, and increases the power of passionate irritability on the other. The truth is, the more quietly and peaceably we all get on the better-the better for ourselves, the better for our neighbors. In nine cases out of ten, the wisest course is, if a man cheats you, to quit dealing with him; if he is abusive, quit his company; if he slanders you, the wisest way is generally just to let him alone; for there is nothing better than this cool, calm, quiet way of dealing with the wrongs we meet with.

Quincy Sent 14. Quincy, Sept. 14.

Written for the Quincy Patriot. THE GOODNESS OF GOD. With grateful recollections,

And hearts inspired with praise, Adoring thy perfections, For perfect are thy ways.

Our many faults confessing, We venture on thy throne, And thank thee for each blessing, While we our vileness own For great beyond expression,

Thy mercies do appear; In times of deep depression, Thou hast an ear to hear. When darkness broods around us, Thou speakest and there's light When enemies confound us, Thou puttest them to flight. When friends committed treason,

Combining with our foes, Without sufficient reason, Our projects to oppose-While we were in our trouble,

Their counsels all were crossed And broken like a bubble, Against a mountain tossed When sickness palled our faces, And we were racked with pain;

But were restored again. The grave was not permitted To have us for a prey; 'Till we were better fitted,

We thought to change our places,

Or had a longer day. The mercy of our Maker Is not confined to time ; The saint shall be partaker, Of pleasures more sublime, For he who ever sees us, When we go out and in,

Will save our souls through Jesus, If we repent of sin. Then let the world adore him ; His holy will obey; And have no God before him,

To turn our hearts away ! Be constant and be zealous, To celebrate his fame; The Lord our God is jealous, For his most holy name.

PAST YEAR, FAREWELL. Past year, farewell! Beneath the solemn pall That hides the buried ages, thou art sleeping I see Time's lengthened shadows darkly fall Upon thy tomb and like a mourner keeping His vigil in some solitary hall,

Thro' which the deep, slow dirge of night is sweep-

Alone I wander, where the cold moon rays Shine like the glory of departed days.

Alas, alas, my dreams of youth have faded, Like fresh roses of the vanish'd Spring ; My Summer fruit, by clouds of sorrow shaded, Upon th' unkindly ground lies withering ; By subtle frost my Autumn sheaf's prevaded And the swift blasts of winter rudely fling, Fair flower, rich fruit, and golden-crested grain, Like priceless stubble, on the snowy plain.

Within thy shroud, oh year! what griefs are hidden Inurn'd with thee, what ruin'd hopes conceal'd; Ties rent that seemed eternal; kindness chidden. From hearts to which love s beauty was reveal'd.

Light, laughing joys and gay emotions hidden, To be in long unbroken silence sealed. But these sad visions let me not recall, Nor idly strive to lift thy solemn pall.

Speed, speed, lost seasons, to the boundless main, Uncounted multitudes too soon must pass, Subjects, like you, of Death's perpetual reign ; Ye shall together mingle with the mass Of spectral shapes, that oft in gloomy train Glide o er the face of fancy's magic glass Deep thro' the earth resounds your funeral knell, And nature sighs, in mournful gales, farewell !

ANECDOTES.

THE IRISH SOLDIER. The Irish make brave and faithful soldiers, and they are also very ingenious in the invention of warlike stratagems. A private of that nation belonging to one of the regular regiments under the command of Gen. Jackson, below New Orleans, while performing a tour of duty as one of the advanced sentinels nearest the enemy, stuck a large Irish potatoe on the point of his bayonet, with a view of inducing his countrymen to desert from the British ranks. The decoy was unavailing, and no deserters joined him. Indeed the attempt would have been extremely perilous in open day light, so closely were the British soldiers watched by their officers. When the sentinel was relieved, vexed at the ill success of his curious device-he exclaimed-" all the bloody red coats are English and Scotch.'

A SAFE BET. Two " bloods" entered a tavern, where they had frequently resorted, and calling for a supper and two bottles of champagne, informed their host that they had laid a wager of such a repast as they had ordered, but as it was not yet decided, they hoped he would wait for his pay until the decision, and then charge the amount to the loser. The landlord assent-Quincy, April 27. ed, and they sat down to a hearty supper. When they had finished, " mine host" had the curiosity to ask what was the nature of the bet, and he was not a little chagrined when he received for answer that it originated in a dispute as to the direction the meeting house

Something Smart. A young lady having given a gentleman, who was not very remarkable for his taste in dress, a playful slap on the face, he called out, 'you have made my eye smart." "Indeed!" said she—" well, I am happy to have been the cause of making something smart about you.

Peristaltic Lozenges:

THIS medicine is not put forth as a universal nostrum calculated to cure all the diseases incident to humanity, but rather as a means of preventing them. It may safely be stated that nine tenths of the most serious maladies arise from an unhealthy action of the stomach and bowels, or liver, inducing, as a natural consequence, indigestion and its results; such as Headache, Acidity of the Stomach, Heartburn, Flatuleney, Nausea, Lowness of Spirits, Jaundice and a whole catalogue of other complaints, which may be entirely removed by a timely and persevering use of

WONDERFUL EFFECTS OF ATMOSPHERIC E-LECTRICITY. A respectable physician, in a late number of Silliman's Journal, relates the following curious account of an Electrical Lady. He states that during a somewhat extraordinary display of the northern lights, the person in question became so highly charged with electricity, as to give out vivid electrical sparks from the end of each finger to each of the company present. This did not cease with the heavenly phenomenon, but continued for several months, during which time she was constantly charged, and giving off electrical sparks to every conductor she approached. This was extremely vexatious, as she could not touch the stove nor any metalic utensil, without first giving off an electrical spark, with the consequent twinge. The state most unfavorable to this phenomenon was an atmosphere of about eighty degrees Farenheit, moderate exercise and social enjoyment. It disappeared in any atmosphere approaching to zero, and under the debilitating influence of fear. When seated by the stove, reading, with her feet upon the fender, she gave sparks at the rate of three or four a minute; and under the most favorable circumstances, a spark that could be seen, heard, or felt, passed every second! She could charge others in the same way, when insulated, who could then give sparks to others. To make it satisfactory that her dress did not produce it, it was changed to cotton and woollen, without altering the phenomenon. The lady is about thirty, of sedentary pursuits, and delicate state of health, having for two years previously suffered from acute rheumatism and peuralgic affections, with peculiar symptoms.

DEBTOR AND CREDITOR. 'Honest debts are sacred and ought to be so held; once a debt, always a debt, until paid, is the maxim of every honest heart, and every honest upright man will pay his debts, and manage his means for the best advantage to fulfill his engagements. Under present circumstances, it is plain that many cannot promptly pay their debts; time, much time, must be given; patience and for-bearance exercised. Let creditors act wisely and prudently; not oppress, but take pay as her wa fast as their debtors can prudently give it-in a hand large or small sums ; let them not act the part two fly of Shylocks-demand immediate payment, or a stop the pound of their flesh, but rather cheer and encourage the honest and persevering creditor, who, like Lawrence, has resolved never to give up the ship. Thus, by being "kindly affectionate one to another," mutual confidence and indulgence, great good can be done, and many and ki debtors be able to pay every dollar, and save some property for their families, who, if now broken pushed, would be unable to pay one-half or hand. one-fourth of what they owe. It is better for creditors to be patient than by vainly attempting to secure immediate payments, destroy the very means by which their future accomplishment would be certain."

RIOT AND OUTRAGE AT NEW YORK. A riot was raised at New York, on New Year's Day, by a body of young men, called Butt-Enders, belonging to the noisy and turbulent portion of the Fire Department. They entered a number duce i of public houses, kept by German emigrants, and committed outrages of the most gross and brutal character, on men and women. At length they were fired upon from the windows wroug of a house (opposite to that which they had assembled in a riotous manner) where the arms souri, of the German Rifle Corps were deposited, and nine i their leader, a young man of twenty-two, was end o instantly killed by two shots, and two of his comrades were dangerously wounded. The police was called out, and every measure adopt- a hig ed to prevent a renewal of the riot, but the awful death of their leader seems to have had the most salutary effect in subduing the riotous disposition of his wicked companions.

WONDERFUL EFFECTS OF ATMOSPHERIC E-LECTRICITY. A respectable physician, in a late number of Silliman's Journal, relates the following curious account of an Electrical Lady. He states that during a somewhat extraordinary display of the northern lights, the person in question became so highly charged with electricity, as to give out vivid electrical sparks from the end of each finger to each of the company present. This did not cease with the heavenly phenomenon, but continued for several months, during which time she was constantly charged, and giving off electrical sparks to every conductor she approached. This was extremely vexatious, as she could not touch the stove nor any metalic utensil, without first giving off an electrical spark, with the consequent twinge. The state most unfavorable to this phenomenon was an atmosphere of about eighty degrees Farenheit, moderate exercise and social enjoyment. It disappeared in any atmosphere approaching to zero, and under the debilitating influence of fear. When seated by the stove, reading, with her feet upon the fender, she gave sparks at the rate of three or four a minute; and under the most favorable circomstances, a spark that could be seen, heard, or felt, passed every second! She could charge others in the same way, when insulated, who could then give sparks to others. To make it satisfactory that her dress did not produce it, it was changed to cotton and woollen, without altering the phenomenon. The lady is about thirty, of sedentary pursuits, and delicate state of health, having for two years previously suffered from acute rheumatism and peuralgic affections, with peculiar symptoms.

DEBTOR AND CREDITOR. 'Honest debts are sacred and ought to be so held; once a debt, always a debt, until paid, is the maxim of every honest heart, and every honest upright man will pay his debts, and manage his means for the best advantage to fulfill his engagements. Under present circumstances, it is plain that many cannot promptly pay their debts; time, much time, must be given; patience and forbearance exercised. Let creditors act wisely and prudently; not oppress, but take pay as fast as their debtors can prudently give it-in large or small sums; let them not act the part of Shylocks-demand immediate payment, or a pound of their flesh, but rather cheer and encourage the honest and persevering creditor, who, like Lawrence, has resolved never to give up the ship. Thus, by being "kindly affectionate one to another," mutual confidence and indulgence, great good can be done, and many debtors be able to pay every dollar, and save some property for their families, who, if now pushed, would be unable to pay one-half or one-fourth of what they owe. It is better for creditors to be patient than by vainly attempting to secure immediate payments, destroy the very means by which their future accomplishment would be certain."

RIOT AND OUTRAGE AT NEW YORK. A riot was raised at New York, on New Year's Day, by a body of young men, called Butt-Enders, belonging to the noisy and turbulent portion of the Fire Department. They entered a number of public houses, kept by German emigrants, and committed outrages of the most gross and brutal character, on men and women. At length they were fired upon from the windows of a house (opposite to that which they had assembled in a riotous manner) where the arms of the German Rifle Corps were deposited, and their leader, a young man of twenty-two, was instantly killed by two shots, and two of his comrades were dangerously wounded. The police was called out, and every measure adopted to prevent a renewal of the riot, but the awful death of their leader seems to have had the most salutary effect in subduing the riotous disposition of his wicked companions.

The annexed obituary notice of the death of Mrs. Sarah P. Hardwick, wife of Mr. Charles Hardwick of FOR this town, was communicated by an intimate acquaintance of the deceased. Perhaps there is no situation more solemn and deeply heart-rending than to be called to stand by the dying bed of a wife and mother: still, there are cases of this kind, where the messenger of death, (otherwise the king of terrors,) is converted into the harburger of Just remercy—when the surviving husband and children can mercy-when the surviving husband and children can stand around such a bed, and find, not support only. but consolation; yea, joy. It is when the work al-lotted to be done has been accomplished; when the family have received that maternal instruction which infinitely surpasses all other in importance-when they have been taught that "fear of the Lord which is the beginning of wisdom"—when "the house is set in order,' and religion has ripened the soul for heaven.

It was under circumstances like these, that our deceased friend bid adieu to earth. She had lived long, enjoyed much, and died in peace. Naturally amiable and lovely in her disposition, she cherished none other than feelings of kindness towards all. Those who had been her most intimate companions, and who were constantly with her, were unable to recoll to have seen her tranquil mind discomposed. But it was the religion of Jesus that contributed more than all other things to render her death an irreparable loss. She loved Zion. It was graven upon her hands. Her constant prayer was " peace be within thee." The room in which her spirit was dismissed from Privileged beyond the common walk of virtuous life-

Perhaps there is no situation more solemn and deeply heart-rending than to be called to stand by the dying bed of a wife and mother: still, there are cases of this kind, where the messenger of death, (otherwise the king of terrors,) is converted into the harbinger of mercy-when the surviving husband and children can stand around such a bed, and find, not support only, but consolation; yes, joy. It is when the work at-lotted to be done has been accomplished; when the tamily have received that maternal instruction which infinitely surpasses all other in importance-when they have been taught that " fear of the Lord which is the beginning of wisdom"-when " the house is set in order, and religion has ripened the soul for heaven.
It was under circumstances like these, that our deceased friend bid adieu to earth. She had lived long, enjoyed much, and died in peace. Naturally amiable and lovely in her disposition, she cherished none othand lovely in her disposition, she cherished none other than feelings of kindness towards all. Those who had been her most intimate companions, and who were constantly with her, were unable to recollect ever to have seen her tranquil mind discomposed. But it was the religion of Jesus that contributed more than all other things to render her death an irreparable loss. She loved Zion. It was graven upon her hands. Her

Valuable Medicine. THE Indian Purgative Pills possess two very remar-kable properties. One is, they cannot possibly do injury or harm; and the other is, they are always SURE to do good. This may appear strange to some; but when we reflect, that they cure disease upon Nature's own plan, viz: Purifying the blood of all corrupt humors, it will not appear wonderful that they are perfectly innocent, and at the same time all powerful in the cure of disease. More than five thousand persons in New England, have been cured of Intermittent, Remittent, Nervous, Inflammatory and Putrid Fevers; Measles, Erysipelas, and small Pox; Inflamations of the Brain, of the Throat, of the Lungs, of the Liver, of the Intestines, the Kidneys, and the Bladder: Rheumatism, both Acute and THE co-partnership, known by the name of Calvin White & Co., is by mutual agreement this day dissolved.

Cooking Stoves.

Quincy, Sept. 14.

THE subscribers have for sale Hathaway's Patent 1 Hot Air Cooking Stoves. These Stoves are said to be superior to any thing of the kind yet invented. They are so constructed that they may be used in summer without any disagreeable effects from the heat, and in winter (by changing the position of the Stove) the same fuel will produce a very great amount of heat in the room. As evidence of the value and convenience of these Stoves, we offer the following recommendation from the Rev. Daniel Leach, formerly of this town, selected from a great number of testimonials we have seen, given by different individuals who have used this kind of Stove.

J. G. HATHAWAY. Sir-In answer to your inquiries respecting the Stove I procured of you a short time since, I have no hesitation in saying, that it is, in my opinion, decidedly superior to every other cooking apparatus with which I am acquainted. From experiments which I have made, I am satisfied that it is admirably fitted for every kind of cooking; and that there is a saving of one half of the fuel usually consumed in stoves of the same dimensions. In fine. I consider it " ne plus ultra" of human invention in cook DANIEL LEACH. ing stoves.

The above Stoves will be sold as low as they can be hought of the Agent in Bostop, and any person wishing to purchase is invited to call and examine them. JOSIAH BRIGHAM & Co.

Subscribe, you cannot lose a cent, Depend the advice is good; For cash thus spent is money lent, On interest four fold paid.

My grandad used to make his brags Of living at a day, When papers sold as cheap as rags, And trust we took for pay.

My grandma, when she had the blues, Would thank her gracious stars That papers filled with wholesome news Were scattered every WHARS.

I knew two friends as much alike As e're you saw two stumps; And no phrenologist could find A difference in their bumps.

Each had a farm of equal worth, A pretty wife to keep-Three boys-three horses and a cow, A dog and twenty sheep.

One took the papers, and his life Is happier than a king's; His children all can read and write, And talk of men and things.

The other took no papers, and While strolling through the wood, A tree fell down upon his crown, And killed him as it should

Had he been reading of the "news," At home, like neigbor Jim, I'll bet a cent that accident Would not have happened him.

Go then, and take the papers, And pay to-day, nor pray delay, And my word heard it is inferred, You live till you are gray.

An old newsmonger friend-of mine, While dying from a cough, Desired to hear the latest news, While he was going off.

I took the paper, and I read Of some new pill in force; He bought a box-and is he dead? No ! hearty as a horse.

Why dont you take the papers : Nor from the printer's visage sneak, Because you borrow of his boy, A paper every week.

For he who takes the papers, And pays his bill when due, Can live at peace with God and man, And with the printer too.

BETTING. Bets are the blockhead's argument, The only logic he can vent, His minor and his major ; 'Tis to confess your head a worse Investigator than your purse,

To reason with a wager. The fool who bets too high will have Temptation to enact the knave, And make his friend his martyr; But they who thus would underhand, Entrap, may be themselves trepanned, And sometimes catch a Tartar.

Some slily make the matter sure, And then propose with looks demure, The bet at stake to double ; Forgetting that whatever vogue The trick may have, the man's a rogue, Whose betting is a bubble.

Tempt not yourselves, still less your friends, Where bets begin, attachment ends, And up spring feuds and quarrels ; Leave wagers with the black-leg tribe, Lest with the practice you imbibe A portion of their morals.

Truss Manufactory.

THE subscriber continues to manufacture TRUSSES of every description, at his residence, at the old stand (opposite 264,) No. 305 Washington street, Boston, entrance in Temple Avenue, up All individuals can see him alone at any time,

Having had eighteen years experience and afforded relief to fifteen hundred persons for the last three years, all may rest assured of relief who call and try Trusses of his manufacture, and he is confident he can give every individual relief who may be disposed to call on him. The public are cautioned against the many quacks who promise what they cannot perform. Having worn the different kinds of Trusses, more or less, that have been offered to the public for the last twenty years, from the different patent manufactories, and now continues to wear those of his own manufacture, he is now able to decide, after examining the rupture, what sort of Truss is best to adapt to all the different cases that occur, and he has on hand as good Trusses, and will furnish any kind of Truss as cheap as can be had elsewhere. Any person that purchases a Truss at this establishment, if it does not suit, can exchange until they are well suited without extra charge. The subscriber manufactures as many as twenty different kinds of Trusses, among which are the different kinds similar to those that the late Mr. John Beath, of this city, formerly made, together with the ses without steel springs-these give relief in all caed Hinge and Pivot Truss; Umbilical Spring Trusses, made in four different ways; Trusses with ball and socket joints; Trusses for Prolapsus Ani, by wearing which, persons troubled with a decant of the rectum can ride on horseback with perfect ease and safety. Mr. F. also makes Trusses for Prolapsus Uteri, which have answered in cases where pessaries have failed. Suspensory Trusses, Knee Caps, and Back Boards are always kept on hand. As a matter of convenience and not of speculation, the undersigned will keep on hand the following kinds his do not suit them after a fair trial, they can exchange for any of them :- Dr. Hull's; Reed's Spiral Truss; Rundell's do; Farr's do; Salmon's Ball and proved Truss; Bateman's do; Shaker's Rocking enges. 'russes; Heintzleman's India Rubber Pad, made in Philadelphia; Ivory turned Pad Trusses; Stone's do, double and single; also Trusses for children of all

Any kind of Trusses repaired at short notice and made as good as when new

Ladies wishing for any of these instruments will be waited upon by Mrs. Foster at the above place.

The subscriber makes and keeps on hand STEEL-ED SHOES for deformed and crooked feet, and is doing this every week for children and infants in this city, and from out of the city. Specimens of his workmanship may be seen at the manufactory. He also informs individuals that he will not make their complaints known to any one, except when he a permitted to refer to them-it being a misfortune, and young persons do not want their cases known. That the public may be satisfied of his ability, he refers them to the certificate of Dr. Warren, received more than four years since.

Tomato Pills.

THE extraordinary virtues of these Pills, in a great degree, depend upon a new and hitherto unknown vegetable principle, which was, after laborious investigation, discovered and first used as a medicine by the author; and from its being first obtained from the Tomato Plant, he has denominated it Tomatine. His at-tention was first called to the subject in the summer of 1835, by the following circumstances.

Two cases of inveterate disease of long standing (one of consumption, the other scrofula, combined with the imprudent use of calomel) both considered hopeless, and both having been abandoned as incurable, were accidentally cured by the extravagant use of Tomatoes SEVERE QUACKERY. One very common objection urged by those who but partially understand the principle of curing disease by purgation, as promulgated by the North American College of Health, is that although reiterated purging will always to be started from the box in which they are packed and put into tight bottles. BROTHER JONATHAN OUTDONE. The government of France a few years ago, left to three criminals condemned to death, the choice of dying on the gallows, or adopting the following conditions. The first was to take tea, the second coffee, and the third chocolate, and to live as long as they could, but were to eat nothing with either; these conditions were eagerly accepted. The last, who drank chocolate, died in eight months; he who took coffee, lived two years; and the tea drinker survived three years. The man who took chocolate died in a state of complete decomposition, and so much eaten by worms, that during his life, his limbs separated one by one from his body. The man who drank coffee was so disfigured after his death, that one would have said that the fire of heaven had burnt his entrails, and calcined him from head to foot. The tea drinker became so thin and almost diphanous, that it was perfectly easy, with a candle in one's hand, to read a newspaper through his body by the intervals which separated the rib!" - Galignani's Messenger.

Tobacco. An opportunity has been presented of witnessing a part of the effect of this powerful narcotic and poison. A lady who had been using a decoction of tobacco for killing insects upon plants, left it exposed where a child found and drank of it, certainly not more than a swallow. The little sufferer upon this went to sleep in her nurse's arms, and remained in a sound slumber two hours. It is proper to observe that nobody knew what she had been tasting until she awaked. Then she was at first pale, then flushed, and in a few minutes after rising had no command whatever of her nerves and muscles. Her hands and arms trembled, and she was unable even to command her lips, or to articulate a syllable. In her fright, the mother, who now understood the cause of the child's illness, had sufficient presence of mind left, to administer an active emetic, while she sent for assistance-and in an hour the little sufferer had entirely recovered from the effects of the poison. - New York Dispatch.

RASH EXPERIMENT. The Philadelphia (U. S.) Gazette publishes the following account of the sudden and awful death of one of the workmen engaged in a brewery in Philadelphia, who proposed to his employers to clean one of the empty vats by a process used in Germany, viz: with alcohol in it. The experiment was new, and he was told to proceed with caution, and was especially admonished not to take a light with him into the vat. He, however, descended into the immense place, capable of containing two hundred barrels, but, contrary to orders, he took with him a candle. After having scattered about a gallon and a half of alcohol, he accidentally dropped the candle. The whole liquor exploded, to the great consternation of the people around. Attempts were made to take the sufferer from his position but in vain; and he was finally taken out through a hole cut into the side of the vat, most shockingly mangled. He was taken immediately to the hospital, but survived but a few hours.

BROTHER JONATHAN OUTDONE. The government of France a few years ago, left to three criminals condemned to death, the choice of dying on the gallows, or adopting the following conditions. The first was to take tea, the second coffee, and the third chocolate, and to live as long as they could, but were to eat nothing with either; these conditions were eagerly accepted. The last, who drank chocolate, died in eight months; he who took coffee, lived two years; and the tea drinker survived three years. The man who took chocolate died in a state of complete decomposition, and so much eaten by worms, that during his life, his limbs separated one by one from his body. The man who drank coffee was so disfigured after his death, that one would have said that the fire of heaven had burnt his entrails, and calcined him from head to foot. The tea drinker became so thin and almost diphanous, that it was perfectly easy, with a candle in one's hand, to read a newspaper through his body by the intervals which separated the rib!' -Galignani's Messenger.

TOBACCO. An opportunity has been presented of witnessing a part of the effect of this powerful narcotic and poison. A lady who had been using a decoction of tobacco for killing insects upon plants, left it exposed where a child found and drank of it, certainly not more than a swallow. The little sufferer upon this went to sleep in her nurse's arms, and remained in a sound slumber two hours. It is proper to observe that nobody knew what she had been tasting until she awaked. Then she was at first pale, then flushed, and in a few minutes after rising had no command whatever of her nerves and muscles. Her hands and arms trembled, and she was unable even to command her lips, or to articulate a syllable. In her fright, the mother, who now understood the cause of the child's illness, had sufficient presence of mind left, to administer an active emetic, while she sent for assistance-and in an hour the little sufferer had entirely recovered from the effects of the poison .- New York Dispatch.

RASH EXPERIMENT. The Philadelphia (U. S.) Gazette publishes the following account of the sudden and awful death of one of the workmen engaged in a brewery in Philadelphia, who proposed to his employers to clean one of the empty vats by a process used in Germany, viz: with alcohol in it. The experiment was new, and he was told to proceed with caution, and was especially admonished not to take a light with him into the vat. He, however, descended into the immense place, capable of containing two hundred barrels, but, contrary to orders, he took with him a candle. After having scattered about a gallon and a half of alcohol, he accidentally dropped the candle. The whole liquor exploded, to the great consternation of the people around. Attempts were made to take the sufferer from his position but in vain; and he was finally taken out through a hole cut into the side of the vat, most shockingly mangled. He was taken immediately to the hospital, but survived but a few hours.

THREE GREAT PHYSICIANS. A celebrated physician being surrounded at his last moments by several of the most distinguished doctors in Paris, who vied with each other in expressions of regret at his situation, 'Gentlemen,' said he suddenly, 'do not so much regret me-I leave behind me three great physicians.' On their pressing him to name them, each being sure that his own name would be among the number, he briefly added- Water, Exercise and Diet," to the no small discomfiture of his disappointed

> EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE. BOSTON, Jan. 16, 1840.

The long agony is over, and we can now breathe freely on the question of Governor. The Committee have reported that the whole number of votes cast in November last for Governor of this Commonwealth were 102,066, necessary to a choice 51,034. Marcus Morton has 51,034. Edward Everett 50,725. Scattering 307. The report was signed by ten out of the thirteen committee, and a minority report has been also submitted, signed by Messrs. Savage and Richardson of Boston and Starkweather of Nantucket. Their objection seems mainly to be confined to the returns of the town of Westfield. This close vote, considering the number thrown, is probably unparallelled in the history of popular elections. There is no choice by the people of Lieutenant Governor, and as there is a whig majority of three in the Senate, Mr. Hull will probably be chosen by that body. Cooking Stoves.

THE subscribers have for sale Hathaway's Patent Hot Air Cooking Stoves. These Stoves are said to be superior to any thing of the kind yet invented. They are so constructed that they may be used in summer without any disagreeable effects from the heat, and in winter (by changing the position of the Stove) the same fuel will produce a very great amount of heat in the room. As evidence of the value and conveni-ence of these Stoves, we offer the following recommendation from the Rev. Daniel Leach, formerly of this town, selected from a great number of testimonials we have seen, given by different individuals who have used this kind of Stove. J. G. HATHAWAY. Sir-In shower to your inquiries respecting the Stove I procused of you a short time since, I have no hesitation in saying, that it is, in my opinion, decidedly superior to every other cooking apparatus with which I am acquainted. From experiments which I have made, I am satisfied that it is admirably fitted for every kind of cooking; and that there is a saving of one half of the fuel usually consumed in stoves of the same dimensions. In fine, I consider it " ne plus ultra" of human invention in cook-DANIEL LEACH. ing stoves. Roxbury, April 26, 1839.

The above Stoves will be sold as low as they can be bought of the Agent in Boston, and any person wis hing to purchase is invited to call and examine them. JOSIAH BRIGHAM & Co.

Quincy, Dec. 21.

A halo gilds Virginia's name. For Yorktown tells a story; New York hath Saratoga's fame, And Jersey, Monmouth's glory; Points Delaware to Brandywine, And La Fayette the finger; And still o'er Carolina's fields Doth Eutaw's memory linger.

Vermont may boast of Bennington, And Pennsylvania wonder O'er unforgotten Valley Forge. And Red Bank's fatal thunder. But O, 'tis Massachusetts tells Of Bunker's fame, ne'er ending, And guards their dust who earliest died. Their inborn rights defending.

Ay; on her 'scutcheon, blazoned high, Read Lexington's invasion; Where cannon peal and rolling drum To freedom woke a nation; Those mossy walls, wheree death-shots fell, Like hail, upon the foeman, Speak prouder things than Grecian fanes. More glorious than the Roman!

They heard the knell of Britain's power, When first in thunder given ; They first caught Freedom's 'larum-cry, And echoed it to heaven! They saw the bloody fountain ope, To seal her priceless charter; And heard the latest anguished prayer Of Freedom's earliest martyr.

Time-honored Massachusetts! thou A sacred trust are keeping; For there the dust of pilgrim sires, And patriot, is sleeping; Their names are whispered on the hills, And murmured by the fountain ; And tireless echoes fling them back, From valley, rock and mountain !

And never shall thy sons forget The ' haunted air' they're breathing ; Bold hearts shall guard the altar fires Their fathers died bequeathing. While Bunker lifts its awful height, And Boston lives in story, Shall Massachusetts guard her trust, And hand it down in glory.

ANECDOTES.

TAKING THINGS COOLLY. A merchant of Baltimore, care-tireness, was seen watching the town clock with intense anxiety for at least a half hour. As the hand moved towards the terrible hour of three, he was observed to become more and more agitated. At length were heard to groan for the departed credit of many a good fellow.
" Ha, ha!" exclaimed the mysterious one, rubbing.

his hand in exstacy, " I'm a happy man-the long agony is over !"
"What's the matter?" asked a friend; "your joy is ill timed, for that bell has brought sorrow to many I never felt so happy in my life! Here have I been standing for more than half an hour in anxious expectation of hearing the clock strike three. Well-you have heard it-what then?

"Why-I hate suspense. I had a note to pay to day-I could not raise the wind. It's now laid over -so let's go take something to drink," BRIBING VOTERS. A good election story will always find ready listeners and laughers even in times of highest political excitement. The following true one has been told us, and is very much too good to be lost. In old times of federalism and democracy, an imployer wished to secure the vote of one of his hands whose political faith he was a little doubtful. John," said he one day, in rather a jocular strain I will give you five dollars to vote as I do." " Ateed," replied John. " 'Pon honor?" inquired his nployer. "I will, truly." The V was paid on the pot. Election came and John, on being watched, imprudent use of calomel) both considered hopeless, was observed to cast a vote for a different candidate than that of his employer. He was accordingly called to account on the score of his agreement, the breach whereof he stoutly denied. "You agreed to vote as I did, sir." "So I did, sir." "Did! You voted the democratic ticket." "Yes sir, and you voted the democratic ticket." "Yes sir, and you voted the federal, did you not." "Yes." "Well, sir, you voted as you pleased and so did I." The master of bribery held his peace.—Barre Gazette.

A BROAD HINT. A country farmer told a friend of his, who had come from town for a few days' shooting, that he once had so excellent a gun that it went off immediately upon a thief coming into the house, although not charged. " How the deuce is that?" said his friend. "Why," replied the farmer, "be-cause the thief carried it off, and what was the worst, before I had time to charge him with it.

A FACT. 'I wish I could join a temperance society, said a little boy about six years old, who stood shivering in one corner of a miserable habitation, rendered so by ardent spirits. You are not old enough,' replied his mother, you can't understand it. 'I guess I am old enough to know better than to drink whiskey,' was his reply.

A SEVERE CUT. A young gentleman, who had quarrelled with a lady to whom he had paid his addresses, was so improdent as to threaten that he would Attorney's Blanks, Business & Visiting Cards, publish the letters she had written to him. (she replied) would be truly vexatious; for though I Blank Notes, need not be ashamed of their contents, I certainly Circulars, ought to be ashamed of their directions!"

A QUANDARY. A man, pretty comfortably drunk, was holding on a post, when a friend inquired what was the matter. "Matter?" said the fellow, "I am was the matter. "Matter?" said the fellow, "I am the patronage of the public is respectfully solicited. shall freeze to death, and if I let go I shall fall into the Truss Manufactory.

THE subscriber continues to manufacture TRUS-SES of every description, at his residence, at COSTIVENESS & DYSPEPSIA. There is Boston, and Concord, and Lexington, and Bunker Hill; and there they will remain a figure of the old stand (opposite 264,) No. 305 Washington street, Boston, entrance in Temple Avenue, up stairs.

at the above place. Having had eighteen years experience and afforded relief to fifteen hundred persons for the last three years, all may rest assured of relief who call and try Trusses of his manufacture, and he is confident he can give every individual relief who may be disposed to call on him.

The public are cautioned against the many quacks who promise what they cannot perform.

Having worn the different kinds of Trusses, more or less, that have been offered to the public for the last twenty years, from the different patent manufactories, and now continues to wear those of his own manufacture, he is now able to decide, after examining the rupture, what sort of Truss is best to adapt to all the different cases that occur, and he has on hand as good Trusses, and will furnish any kind of Truss as cheap as can be had elsewhere. Any person that purchases a Truss at this establishment, if it does not suit, can exchange until they are well suited without extra charge.

The subscriber manufactures as many as twenty different kinds of Trusses, among which are the different kinds similar to those that the late Mr. John Beath, of this city, formerly made, together with the Patent Elastic Spring Truss, with spring pads; Trusses of rupture, and in a large portion produce a per-fect cure—they can be worn day and night; improved Hinge and Pivot Truss; Umbilical Spring Trusses, made in four different ways; Trusses with ball and socket joints; Trusses for Prolapsus Ani, by wearing which, persons troubled with a decant of the rectum can ride on horseback with perfect ease and safety. Mr. F. also makes Trusses for Prolapsus Uteri, which have answered in cases where pessaries have failed. Suspensory Trusses, Knee Caps, and Back Boards are always kept on hand. As a matter of convenience and not of speculation, the undersigned will keep on hand the following kinds his do not suit them after a fair trial, they can exchange for any of them :- Dr. Hull's; Reed's Spiral Truss; Rundell's do; Farr's do; Salmon's Ball and Socket; Sherman's Patent; French do; Marsh's Improved Truss; Bateman's do; Shaker's Rocking Trusses; Heintzleman's India Rubber Pad, made in Philadelphia; Ivory turned Pad Trusses; Stone's do, double and single; also Trusses for children of all

"Boston, January 7, 1835. "Having had occasion to observe that some persons afflicted with the Hernia have suffered much from the want of a skillful workman in accommoda-ting Trusses to the peculiarities of their cases, I have taken pains to inform myself of the competency of Mr. J. F. Foster to supply the deficiency occasioned by the death of Mr. Beath. After some months of price, at the Quincy Bookstore, of all the popular perirvation of his work, I am satisfied that Mr. Foster is well acquainted with the manufacture of these instruments, and ingenious in accommodating them to the variety of cases which occur. I feel myself called on to recommend him to my professional brethren and to the public as a person well fitted to supply their wants in regard to these important articles. JOHN C. WARREN. Tomato Pills.

THE extraordinary virtues of these Pills, in a great A degree, depend upon a new and hitherto unknown vegetable principle, which was, after laborious investigation, discovered and first used as a medicine by the author; and from its being first obtained from the Tomato Plant, he has denominated it Tomatine. His attention was first called to the subject in the summer of 1835, by the following circumstances.

Two cases of inveterate disease of long standing (one imprudent use of calomel) both considered hopeless, and both having been abandoned as incurable, were accidentally cured by the extravagant use of Tomatoes for food. This, together with the incidental remarks of the attending physicians gave the first impulse to that investigation and analysis of the plant which resulted in discovering and concentrating this new principle, upon which its activity as a remedy depends This was found upon trial in some cases of scrofula and glandular diseases, to exert a most powerful and salutary influence, far exceeding the most sanguine ex-pectations. Later and more extended use and observation has proved it to be peculiarly applicable to all diseases of the blood, indigestion, obstructions, weak-

Indian Purgative Pills.

THIS universal vegetable medicine of the North American College of Health, established in Washington. (D. C.) January 8th, 1838, is remarkable for the CURE OF ALL DISEASES.

The beautiful and simple theory of ONE DISEASE AND ONE REMEDY, as practised by our native Indians, and advocated by the North American College Thousands who have heretofore maintained the necessity of a peculiar medicine for every particular disease

Wailst under the influence of this singular experienced; the stomach and bowels will be thoroughly cleansed; and the blood will be stimulated topurify itself.

One very common objection urged by those who but partially understand the principle of curing disease by purgation, as promulgated by the North American College of Health, is that although reiterated purging will organs will injure or destroy their tone. Those who ural to the bowels, as walking is to the feet or labor to the hands; and like every other function must be duly

What man in his senses would think of depriving his children of exercise, in order that they might be STRENGTHENED by ACTIVITY? And yet this absurdity is no greater, than the infatuation of those, who imagine the bowels can be injured by performing their NAT-URAL FUNCTIONS; or that disease can be cured by any other medicine than such as will remove the CAUSE from the body.

Nature is constantly giving us examples of the salutary effects of purging. We find her perseveringly employed, not only in carrying off the residium of the natural food, by the daily evacuations of the bowels; but we frequently see her by a natural diarrhoa, cure me of our most obstinate complaints.

Nature, by always adopting this one plea in the cure of disease, points most emphatically to the course she would have us pursue. She seems to say in the most inviting manner, come, follow my example; cease using those mineral medicines, which serve only to CLOG the wheels of life; and in their stead use VEGETA-BLE PURGATIVES, which being natured to our cotions, ARE, in Truth, THE MEDICINE OF LIFE

How FRUIT SHOULD BE TAKEN. Fruit should be taken as an article of food, either as the whole meal or part of one. Perhaps no error in regard to fruit has done more mischief than that which prevails-at least in practice-that fruit is not food; that we may eat our usual allowance of food, and afterwards a quantity of fruit in addition.

Some of the German physicians recommended that the breakfast for the young, especially for those who are not vigorous, should consist either of fruit alone, or fruit and milk. Thousands and thousands make a whole breakfast of

As to the irregular use of fruit between our meals, as is the way of most children, and even of some adults, we conceive it to be abominable. Nothing sooner breaks up digestion and induces derangement of the bowels than eating irregularly between our meals, even when the substance eaten is in itself unexceptionable. It is in fact one of the most prolific causes of our summer complaints; and hence the importance of understanding this subject, and of governing ourselves and our families accordingly .- Cultivator.

MAXIMS. An Independent Man is one who blacks his own shoes and boots, who can live without whiskey and tobacco.

A Great Man is one who can make his children obey him when they are out of his sight. A Hospitable Man is never ashamed of his dinner when you come to dine with him.

VARIETY.

How FRUIT SHOULD BE TAKEN. Fruit should be taken as an article of food, either as the whole meal or part of one. Perhaps no error in regard to fruit has done more mischief than that which prevails-at least in practice-that fruit is not food; that we may eat our usual allowance of food, and afterwards a quantity of fruit in addition.

Some of the German physicians recommended that the breakfast for the young, especially for those who are not vigorous, should consist either of fruit alone, or fruit and milk. Thousands and thousands make a whole breakfast of

As to the irregular use of fruit between our meals, as is the way of most children, and even of some adults, we conceive it to be abominable. Nothing sooner breaks up digestion and induces derangement of the bowels than eating irregularly between our meals, even when the substance eaten is in itself unexceptionable. It is in fact one of the most prolific causes of our summer complaints; and hence the importance of understanding this subject, and of governing ourselves and our families accordingly .- Cultivator.

MAXINS. An Independent Man is one who blacks his own shoes and boots, who can live without whiskey and tobacco.

A Great Man is one who can make his children obey him when they are out of his sight. A Hospitable Man is never ashamed of his dinner when you come to dine with him.

A Good Wife exhibits her love for her husband by trying to promote his welfare, and by administering to his comfort.

A Poor Wife "dears" and "my loves" her husband but wouldn't sew a button to his coat to keep him from freezing. A Sensible Wife looks for her enjoyment at home-a silly one, abroad. A Wise Girl would win a lover by practising those virtues which secure admiration when personal charms have faded. A Simple Girl endeavors to recommend herself by the exhibition of frivolous accomplishments, and a mawkish sentiment which is as shallow as her mind. A Good Girl always respects herself, and therefore always possesses the respect of others. - Boston Statesman.

TAILOR DEFENDED. A Tailor, instead of being the ninth part of a man, possesses the qualities of nine men combined, as follows;

1st. As an economist, he cuts his garments according to his cloth.

2nd. As a gardener, he is careful of his cab-3d. As a cook, he provides himself with a hot goose. 4th. As a sheriff's officer, he does much at

5th. As an executioner, he furnishes many gallowses. 7th. As a general, he brandishes not a sword but a bare bodkin. 7th. As a sailor, he shares off whenever he thinks necessary.

8th. As a lawyer, he attends to many suits. 9th. As a christian and divine, it is his chief aim to form good habits for himself and others.

PRINTER'S PROVEEDS. Pay thou thy printer in the day thou owest him, that the evil day may be far off, lest the good man of the law sendeth thee thy bill-GREETING.

Remember him of the quill, and the little devils around him; and, when thou weddest thy daughter to the man of her choice, send thou unto him a bountiful slice of the bridal Borrow not that for which thy neighbor hath paid, but go and buy for thyself of him who hath to sell.

Thou shalt not read thy neighbor's paper, nor molest him in his peaceful possession of it, lest thou stand condemned in the sight of him who drives the quill, and thy character be hawked about by poor children,

NEWSPAPERS. With the close of last year many newspapers ceased their existence, and among the Rev. Ca number several that had survived the political chan- lecture ges of years. With the commencement of the present next WEI year, quite a number of new papers were ushered into birth, and their fate is shrouded in futurity. May every good fortune attend them.

Several papers which have heretofore been liberally sustained, appeared with the new year in an enlarged form and new dress. Among the number is the Boston Morning Post, edited by our namesake, Charles G. Green, a talented and worthy member of the fraternity. As the editor of a political paper, he faithfully and successfully combats his opponents with spirited and able expositions of the principles which he advocates. of Weyn He is universally popular with the corps editorial of

The Dedham Patriot and Canton Gazette, lately printed at the former place, has been re moved to Rox- respectfu bury and now appears under the name of Dedham Patriot and Roxbury Democrat. Though it assumes as a part of its cognomen the title of Democrat, vet it advocates with energy the measures of the whig party, and is their organ in this county. Its editor, Warren B. Ewer, Esq. is a gentleman of fine abilities, as the TUESD columns of his paper will amply testify, both as re- Jr's Hall gards the spirited editorial comments and the pleasant and interesting miscellany.

THE BAY STATE DEMOCRAT is exceedingly neat in citizens, its mechanical execution, and as usual is edited with at the Ha interest and power by Lewis Josselyn, Esq , a young man of talents, industry and perseverance. It defends come h the principles of the party, as its name significantly implies, with boldness and wisdom. From the same office is published a daily evening paper, possessing all the characteristics of the weekly journal.

The American Traveller still continues in public confidence as manifest by its increasing support. Its pungent editorials, its interesting summary of news, and its pleasant miscellany, render it a welcome visitor in the family circle as well as a rich treat to the traveller. Royal L. Porter, Esq., by whom it is so judiciously conducted, richly deserves the liberal patronage of the public, and we trust a generous community will amply reward his unwearied efforts to advance their best interests.

Poulson's Advertiser, for so many years the quiet and profitable paper, principally supported by friends, in Philadelphia, has been merged into the North Amerrican, a neutral journal. The Boston Phoenix is a new paper established to take the place of the Independent Messenger. It is sale wil edited by John Thornton. The Boston Cultivator come to us in a new dress. It is a capital paper for the farmer. Success to both-

The Daily Evening Rambler is the name of a paper which has recently been issued in Boston by George Roberts, the publisher of the Boston Daily ITHE Times, Boston Notion, and World of Romance. It is conducted with the spirit so characteristic of Robert's other publications.

We trust his offer of an exchange will prove to be and made in faith. After publishing his prospectus of the Times, for which we were to receive the paper daily, it came to hand regularly for a few weeks, but has since almost entirely failed. THE Indian Purgative Pills possess two very remarkable properties. One is, they cannot possibly do injury or harm; and the other is, they are always sure to do good.

This may appear strange to some; but when we reflect, that they cure disease upon Nature's own plan, viz: Purifying the blood of all corrupt humors, it will not appear wonderful that they are perfectly innocent, and at the same time all powerful in the cure of

More than five thousand persons in New England, given to persons of the highest respectability, who have been restored to health and usefulness, by the above Purgation, the only sure and certain method of curing disease, will be universally acknowledged, and DIS-EASE WHOLLY DRIVEN FROM OUR LAND.

Cooking Stoves.

THE subscribers have for sale Hathaway's Patent Hot Air Cooking Stoves. These Stoves are said to be superior to any thing of the kind yet invented. They are so constructed that they may be used in summer without any disagreeable effects from the heat, and in winter (by changing the position of the Stove) the same fuel will produce a very great amount of heat in the room. As evidence of the value and convenience of these Stoves, we offer the following recommendation from the Rev. Daniel Leach, formerly of this town, selected from a great number of testimonials we have seen, given by different individuals who have used this kind of Stove.

THOUGHTS IN RHYME. BY C. C. HILL

The cold winter snow

And gives to the earth

A garment fair !

We look on its light

As it hangs far up

Yet idle to think

Of things so low

As the drifted sleet

And flying snow !

And the scenes of life

In boundless space

Of the changeless power

A lesson to learn

Of DEITY.

In all we see,

There is a land, of every land the pride,

Beloved by heaven o'er all the world beside

Where brighter suns dispense serener light,

And milder moons emparadise the night;

Time-tutored age and love-exalted youth.

Views not a realm so beautiful and fair,

Nor breathes the spirit of a purer air ;

In every clime the magnet of his soul,

The heritage of nature's noblest race.

The wandering mariner whose eye explores

The wealthiest isles, the most enchanting shores,

Touched by remembrance, trembles to the pole :

F or in this land of Heaven's peculiar grace,

There is a spot of earth supremely blest-

His sword and sceptre, pageantry and pride;

The sire, the son, the husband, father, friend

Here woman reigns, the mother, daughter, wife

Strews with fresh flowers the narrow path of life;

Where shall that land that spot of earth be found :

And thou shalt find, howe'er thy footsteps roam,

That land THY COUNTRY, and that spot THY HOME.

VARIETY.

FEMALE PIETY. The gem of all others which adorns the coronet of female loveliness. is unaffected piety. The grace of her meinthe fascination of ner countenance-her nobleness of heart-her primeval intelligence and enviable intellect, are the happiness of man. Piety added, throws a garb of holiness over every action; brightens the shining intellect; adds gentleness to the heart, and in the voice of earthly love, it mingles the bliss of heaven. Without it, woman brings darkness and death upon mankind; with it, she is the enlightening orb of earth-the blessed gift of heaven; to whom the virtuous, the good, pay homage. Then ye, who were designed as the guiding star of man to heaven, to other graces add piety of heart. It will strew flowers in your pathway through the journey of life; and even in the hour of mortal dissolution, it will be to your soul the light of life and glory .- American REPRODUCTION. Rapacious birds generally lay but four eggs; some however only two; as the eagle, the cinerous vulture, and the great horned owl. The merlin and the kestril lay six. Pigeons are so prolific, that the produce of two pair, in four years may amount to twenty-nine thousand. Vipers lay from six to ten eggs; the sea tortoise ninety; the crocodile a hundred. The termes bellicosus even lays eighty thousand eggs in four and twenty hours ! The muscaria carnaria increase so fast, that some have not hesitated to assert, that three of them will devour a horse, as quick as a lion; whilst a single aphis, if undisturbed for five generations, will amount to five millions nine hundred and four thousand. Fishes are wonderfully productive, for though some large fishes produce only one, carp spawn three hundred and forty two thousand one hundred and fortyfour ovila; and cod not unfrequently nine millions three hundred and ninety four thousand !

PREVENTIVE REMEDY FOR HYDROPHOBIA. Let oyster shells, previously well washed, be thrown on a bed of live coals and there remain until they are thoroughly calcined, reduce them to a fine powder in a mortar, and of this powder, take, in a little good wine and water, two table spoons heaping full, (let the spoons be of the size of common silver ones) every secand morning, fasting until it has been taken three or four times. The patient must abstain from food six hours after taking the dose, and during the whole of the treatment must avoid every thing of an oily nature; he is not permitted to drink anything during the six hours after taking the medicine, and he must commence taking it as soon as he can after being bitten.

PEAT. It is surprising, considering the high price of fuel, that public attention has not been more particularly directed to the great value of meat which is found in great abundance, and when properly prepared and preserved, forms an excellent feel, easy of ignition and giving out a very grea, heat. A process has been contrived for compressing it and mixing it with the dust of anthracite coal, in which form considerable quantities were taken out by the steam ship Liverpool, and found of great advantage for mixing with the ordinary fuel.

THE BENCH-THE BAR-THE PRESS. In these three words, says some one, consists the germ of a nation's liberty. If the first is pure and just, the second independent and firm, and the third free and untrammelled, no people can ever be permanently enslaved; but if either the bench or the bar try to control the press, they will find their own power shaken to its very centre.

A TRUE SAYING. Whoever quarrels with a man for his political principles, is himself denying the first principle of freedom-freedom of nothing in politics worth a groat: it is, therefore, wrong upon principle. You have on this subject a right to convince them if you can : they have the same. Exercise your rights, but don't quarrel. .

The fourteenth lecture was by Rev. Mr. Tillotson of this town. It was a "defence of the female character." This subject seemed rather ludicrous to us, as we had, generally, taken it for granted, that the female character needed but little defence; however, our lecturer showed much tact in the management of his subject, and, to do him justice, we must say, that now lies in Hingham harbor, and further information William W. The sixteenth lecture was by the Hon. Samuel G. Goodrich of Roxbury. His subject was 'the creation,' or the works of nature as exhibiting evidence of the Creator. He gave us an elegant and beautiful description of the animate world, showed the perfect adaptation of the animate world, showed the perfect adaptation of means to an end, and thus proved, incontestation of means to an end, and thus proved, incontestation of means to an end, and thus proved, incontestation of the animate world, showed the perfect adaptation of the animate world, showed the perfect adaptation of means to an end, and thus proved, incontestation of means to an end, and thus proved, incontestation of means to an end, and thus proved, incontestation of means to an end, and thus proved, incontestation of means to an end, and thus proved, incontestation of means to an end, and thus proved, incontestation of means to an end, and thus proved, incontestation of means to an end, and thus proved, incontestation of means to an end, and thus proved, incontestation of means to an end, and thus proved, incontestation of means to an end, and thus proved, incontestation of means to an end, and thus proved incontestation of means to an end, and thus proved incontestation of means to an end, and thus proved incontestation of means to an end, and thus proved incontestation of means to an end, and thus proved incontestation of means to an end, and thus proved incontestation of means to an end, and thus proved incontestation of means to an end, and thus proved incontestation of means to an end, and thus proved incontestation of means to an end, and thus proved incontestation of means to an end, and thus proved incontestation of means to an end, and thus proved incontestation of means to an end, and thus proved incontestation of means to an end, and thus proved incontestation of means to an end, and thus proved incontestation of means to an end, and thus proved incontestation of means to an end, and thus proved incontestation of means to an end, and thus proved incontestation of the means to an end, and thus proved incontestation of the means to an end, and thus proved incontestation o tion of means to an end, and thus proved, incontestably, the existence and agency of the Deity. Cooking Stoves.

THE subscribers have for sale Hathaway's Patent Hot Air Cooking Stoves. These Stoves are said to be superior to any thing of the kind yet invented. They are so constructed that they may be used in summer without any disagreeable effects from the heat, and in winter (by changing the position of the Stove) the same fuel will produce a very great amount of heat in the room. As evidence of the value and convenience of these Stoves, we offer the following recommendation from the Rev. Daniel Leach, formerly of this town, selected from a great number of testimoni als we have seen, given by different individuals who

J. G. HATHAWAY. Sir-In answer to your inquiries respecting the Stove I procured of you a short time since, I have no hesitation in saying, that it is, in my opinion, decidedly superior to every other cooking apparatus with which I am acquainted. From experiments which I have made, I am satisfied that it is admirably fitted for every kind of cooking; and that there is a saving of one half of the fuel usually consumed in stoves of the same dimensions. In fine, I consider it " ne plus ultra" of human invention in cooking stoves.

The above Stoves will be sold as low as they can be bought of the Agent in Boston, and any person wishing to purchase is invited to call and examine them.

THE MISTAKE. A celebrated doctor in olden times dabbled considerably in stocks. One day, prior to his visiting his patients, he received intelligence that the stocks had suddenly fallen. At this moment he was sent for, in a great hurry, to visit a lady who was very ill. Having considerable property in the funds, the news made so strong an impression upon his mind that while he was feeling the patient's pulse, he exclaimed—' Mercy upon me, how the fall—lower! lower! lower! lower! lower! The lady, in great alarm, flew to the bell, crying out, 'I am dying; the Doctor says my pulse gets lower and lower, so that it is impossible I should live! 'You are dreaming, Madam,' replied the physician, rousing from his reverie, 'your pulse is very good, and nothing ails you; it was the stocks I was talking of.'

Indian Purgati

THIS universal vegetable American College of Health estab. n. (D. C.) January 8th, 1838, is remarkable for the CURE OF ALL DISEASES.

The beautiful and simple theory of ONE DISEASE AND ONE REMEDY, as practised by our native Indians, and advocated by the North American College of Health, is beginning now to be generally understood Thousands who have heretofore maintained the necessity of a peculiar medicine for every particular disease, now as strenuously contend, that is all our maladies proceed from one cause, so one medicine capable of removing that cause, will cure every disease incident

If disease of the head, or the feet, or the lungs, liver. &c., each require a peculiar kind of medicine to heal them, would not those parts each require a particular kind of foed for their nourishment' But as we know that good, wholesome food nourishes all parts of the system alike, it is manifest therefore, that a good and proper vegetable medicine will, by purifying the blood, search out and remove the cisease from every According to the Natural or Incian theory, all our complaints owe their origin to one cause, viz : the shutting up of those outlets, (the Skin Kidneys and Bowels) through which nature has intended, that all corrupt and useless matter shall be caried from the body. When these become closed, it is like the shutting up of a water-course; either the accumulated waters find a new outlet, or the country becomes inundated; just so with the human body; if the natural drains become closed, the humors accumulate it the system, and either find vent in the form of various diseases, such as Fevers Rheumatism, Cutaneous Eruptions, Gout, &c., or Apoplexy, and death ends the scene. The only sensible method, therefore, of preventing and curing disease, is to keep the body continually purged of all the useless and corrupt humors; and for this purpose no medicine will be found so effectual, as the Indian Purgative, because, it is the only one whose power extends to the opening of ALL THE NATURAL drains of the body. Whilst under the influence of this singular medicine, the body will be kept in a gentle but effectual perspiration; a proper discharge of urine will be experienced; the stomach and bowels will be thoroughly cleansed; and the blood will be stimulated to

One very common objection urged by those who but partially understand the principle of curing disease by purgation, as promulgated by the North American Col. ege of Health, is that although reiterated purging will cure disease; vet, that the repeated exercising of those organs will injure or destroy their tone. Those who raise objections, appear to forget, that purging is as natral to the bowels, as walking is to the feet or labor to the hands; and like every other function must be duly exercised in order to retain their energies. What man in his senses would think of depriving children of exercise, in order that they might be STRENGTHENED by ACTIVITY? And yet this absurdity no greater, than the infatuation of those, who image the bowels can be injured by performing their NAT-URAL FUNCTIONS; or that disease can be cured by any ther medicine than such as will remove the CAUSE Nature is constantly giving us examples of the saluary effects of purging. We find her perseveringly employed, not only in carrying off the residium of the tural food, by the daily evacuations of the bowels; it we frequently see her by a natural diarrhoa, cure me of our most obstinate complaints.

Nature, by always adopting this one plea in the cure disease, points most emphatically to the course e would have us pursue. She seems to say in the ost inviting manner, come, follow my example; cease ng those mineral medicines, which serve only to of the wheels of life; and in their stead use VEGETA-BLE PURGATIVES, which being natured to our constitu-tions, ARE, in Truth, THE MEDICINE OF LIFE AND HEALTH.

flow persons can comprehend the action of vegetae purgatives; by what mysterious process the blood hem stimulated to deposite its impurities into the wels; or how those organs are excited to evacuate corrupt humors from the body; all can understand on they experience relief. The gentlemen who npose the North American College of Health would erefore earnestly invite all who are suffering from sease of any kind, to make a trial of the Indian Vegable Pill. They beg leave to assure the American blic, that said Indian Pill are a purgative medicine, justly balanced, that they may be taken at all times, under all circumstances with perfect safety, and dose, however small, but will afford some relief; nd no quantity however large, (if it be such as is re-aired to open the bowels) can possibly injure.

ASSISTING NATURE should be our chief study, d for this purpose, the Indian Purgative will be found most effectual medicine ever offered to the public. s power being always directed to the opening of those ains, through which nature carries out all impurities om the body; it affords precisely the amount of assisance she requires, to enable her to cure every variety disease. It being a vegetable preparation, and actig in harmony with our constitution, it is always the RIGHT medicine to be administered. A single dose ill in most cases afford relief, and, if persevered with, ill always effect a cure.

In using the Indian Purgative, (or dunail Vegetable Pills:) no care is necessary, except in taking such as shall operate freely on the bowels. If this effect is tained, every other function will be duly performed. The skin and kidneys will each be stimulated to ischarge THEIR portion of impurities; and the energy aparted by this extraordinary medicine to the blood, vill enable that fluid to disengage and deposite its npure particles into the bowels; from whence they ill be carried off by the regular action of those

One great advantage, possessed by the Indian Pills over every other medicine, is, that, as they cure disease pon natural principles and suit all complaints, and, re always the RIGHT medicine to be administered, that onsequently, can never be taken improperly; thereore, no time should be lost in listening to contradicto y advice; the only inquiry should be; is the person, ick? if so, the sooner a few doses of the Indian Pills re administered, the sooner will the patient be restored

CURIOUS CASE OF DIVORCE. In the Senate of New York, recently, a committee reported a bill to divorce David Frost from his wife. This bill relates to a notable case of conjugal infelicity which made a good deal of noise last winter. It seems that this Mrs. Eveline Frost was a short time since a young single lady with a lover named-but no matter. This lover grew tired of her, after an acquaintance of great intimacy and affection, and devised a plan to get rid of her. Says he to Eveline "There's old Frost-a simple rusty old fellow-would give his two eyes to marry you; do you just coax him on to do so, and when the ceremony is just beginning, I will step in, take you out of his hands, and marry you myself. It will be such a good joke, that all the country will go into convalsions upon it." The lady bit, or was bitten; executed her part of the Beau's Stratagem; but when the proper time came, Lothario did not step in, and Miss Eveline became Mrs. Frost, before she knew it-all the time hoping that the next minute would bring Lothario to the rescue, and thinking only of him. The moment she was told she had become Mrs. Frost, she spurned him and his, and has never thought of recognising or treating him as remains of the dresses of the two poor children. herself devoted to the false Lothario, and him alone. David Frost, who was in raptures with the thought of taking to his arms a bouncing bride, but whose "Dead Sea fruits" have tempted the eye but to "turn to ashes on the lip," now cries mighty for a divorce. Ought he not to have it ?

HYDROPHOBIA. It is recorded in a Pennsylvania paper, that a dog which had been fighting separately dissolved in a small quantity of hot with another dog soon after exhibited symptoms of canine madness, and in a few days after attacked two or three cats, and fore them to pieces. The owner was recommended to keep his dog up, as the signs of madness had become obvious to the neighbors. It appears that he did not attend immediately to this suggestion, so that the dog, being unsecured, bit a cat, which was a pet of one of his children. This cat came into the child's bed room in the morning, as usual, jumped on the bed, and while playing with the little boy, bit him on the nose; about two hours after, the boy was taken ill, with symptoms of hydrophobia, and few hopes are entertained of its recovery. Another cat was also bitten by the same dog, and being pursued by the neighbors, ran into a house, jumped at a little girl and bit the calf of her leg severely. By the application of caustic immediately to the wound, the girl is supposed to be placed out of danger.

EXTRAORDINARY COMPETITION. Three genclemen, says the New York Post, well known in the fashionable world, have made a wager, the oddity of which is likely to give rise to considerable amusement. The first of the parties is to drive a stage coach; the second is to walk through the country as an itinerant melodist: and the third is to perform four principal dramatic characters, two in tragedy and two in The greater part of the money, obtained by these eccentric adventurers, in their be worth five million dollars by the finding of several pursuits, is to be devoted to charitable their father's will, which had been concealed purposes. Yes, leap year! What a good year this is! How such time that is spent in preparing to visit the fair. s spared this good year to the bachelors? And then, how very pleasant, all round, to have the ladies visit the gentlemen! And then, again, how very convenient for them to do it at this lovely season, when all that is necessary for the fair visiters is, to call for the fleet horse and new sleigh, and follow the chime of the merry bells to the domicil of the solitary bachelor It would seem as though no fair one, who has that kindness of heart which generally characterises the lovely daughters of our happy land, (especially in sleighing time,) could with hold what would give such a zest to the lonely advocate of celibacy, or awaken some tender emotions in the icy regions of the bachelor's heart? But why these expressions? these wishes? when almost every moment, we hear the bells carrying the 'last, best gift to man,' on errands of kindness and love to the abodes of those who ought to receive them with open hearts. Cooking Stoves.

THE subscribers have for sale Hathaway's Patent Hot Air Cooking Stoves. These Stoves are said to be superior to any thing of the kind yet invented. They are so constructed that they may be used in summer without any disagreeable effects from the heat, and in winter (by changing the position of the Stove) the same fuel will produce a very great amount of heat in the room. As evidence of the value and convenience of these Stoves, we offer the following recommendation from the Rev. Daniel Leach, formerly of this town, selected from a great number of testimonials we have seen, given by different individuals who have used this kind of Stove.

J. G. HATHAWAY. Sir-In answer to your inquiries respecting the Stove I procured of you a short time since, I have no hesitation in saying, that it is, in my opinion, decidedly superior to every other cooking apparatus with which I am acquainted. From experiments which I have made, I am satisfied that it is admirably fitted for every kind of cooking; and that there is a saving of one half of the fuel usually consumed in stoves of the same dimensions. In fine, I consider it " ne plus ultra" of human invention in cook DANIEL LEACH. ng stoves. Roxbury, April 26, 1839.

known to thrive in population and capital

Here no ferocious beast, Or poisonous serpents bite. You need no armour here, Or weapon for a fight: But there alarm and danger makes, With ravenous wolves and rattle-snakes.

Subsisting by the chase, May be your chief design, But with a life like this Some dangers do combine For when you shoot the prairie-fowl A prairie-wolf is sure to growl.

Yet still, if you prefer, Their company to ours-Ferocious beasts to men; A wilderness to flowers ; Equip yourself and " go ahead" As Colonel Davy Crockett suid.

But I will tarry here, Abiding by the stuff, My burden in the east, Bears heavily enough Of course I cherish no desire, To pass from frying-pan to fire.

THE REJECTED.

Not have me! Not love me! Oh, what have I said Sure never was lover so strangely misled; Rejected! and just when I hoped to be blest You can't be in earnest ! it must be a jest.

Remember-remember how often I've knelt, Explicitly telling you all that I felt; And talked about poison in accents so wild ; So very like torture-you started-and smiled.

Not have me! Not love me! Oh, what have I done All natural nourishment did I not shun ! My figure is wasted-my spirits are lost, And my eyes are deep sunk, like the eyes of a ghost

Remember-remember-aye, madam, you must, I once was exceedingly stout and robust; I rode by your palfry, I came at your call, And nightly went with you to banquet and ball.

Not have me ! Not love me ! Rejected ! Refused ! Sure never was lover so strangely ill-used ! Consider my presents, (I don't mean to boast !) But madam, consider the money they cost!

Remember you've worn them, and just can it be To take all my trinkets, and then not take me? Nay don't throw them at me !- You'll break-do not

I don't mean my gifts-but you will break my heart !

Not have me! Not love me! Not go to the church Sure never was lover so left in the lurch ! My brain is distracted, my feelings are hurt ; Oh, madam. don't tempt me to call you a flirt.

Remember my letters, my passion they told, Yes all sorts of letters-save letters of gold ! The amount of my notes too-the notes that I penned, Not bank notes-no, truly, I had none to send !

Not have me! Not love me! And is it then true That opulent age is the lover for you! 'Gainst rivalry's bloom I would strive-'tis too much To yield to the terrors of rivalry's crutch.

Remember-remember I might call him out, But, madam, you are not worth fighting about; My sword shall be stainless in blade and in hilt; I thought you a jewel! I found you a jilt!

ANECDOTES.

A FINE BARGAIN. An old continental arrived at an inn, and asked for refreshment. The hostess set before him a bone of ham and a crust of bread. Her son, who had been an officer, gave the poor fellow a shilling when he had done picking, and bid him march off. Soon after the old woman come in to look for her pay. "Mother," says the officer, "what might the picking of that bone be worth?" "Why, about one and sixpence, these hard times." "Well," cried the humane son, "I have made a fine bargain, and eaved sixpence, for I gave him but a shilling to pick

THE QUAKER OUTWITTED. An honestrustic went into the shop of a Quaker to buy a hat, for which twenty-five shillings was demanded. He offered twenty shillings. " As I live," said the Quaker, "I cannot afford to give it thee at that price." "As you live," exclaimed the countryman, "then live more moderate-ty, and be hanged to you." "Friend," said the Quaker, "thou shalt have the hat for nothing. I have sold hats for twenty years, and my trick was never found out till now.'

QUEEN VICTORIA'S INTENDED. A young unsophisticated damsel, from the country, was the other day conversing with a lady who had recently returned from England. " Did you see the Queen?" inquired the former. "How did she look? Was she pretty "Oh yes, quite pretty." "Dear me! well I would have given any thing to have seen her-did you see her often?" "Oh, yes, quite often." "Indeed-was she riding or walking?" "Chiefly riding." "Did you see her beau?"

A NEW WAY TO PROPOSE. A gentleman was persuaded by the friends of a worthy and sensible young lady, who lived in an obscure and interior situation, to pay his addresses to her. He accordingly sent her a letter of introduction, in the following words, can any good thing come out of Nazareth? She returned any good thing come out of Nazareth? She returned for answer, "come and see." He was so pleased with the frankness and ingenuity of the reply that he immediately married her at a public seminary, being lectured by his tutor for not retaining until morning the lesson he had learnt over night, and, being asked the reason, replied, "I don't know, sir, unless it is because I sleep without a night-cap, and it evaporates before the morning."

will not follow the use of these Lozenges.

To females in delicate health.

The Peristaltic Lozenges are strongly recommended to the notice of every lady, having obtained the sanction and approbation of several eminent gentlemen of the Medical Profession, as a safe and valuable medicine in removing obstructions and relieving all other inconveniences to which the female frame is liable, especially those which arise at an early period of life, from want of exercise and general debility of the system. They create an appetite, correct indigestion, remove giddiness and nervous headache, and are eminently useful in windy disorders, pains in the stomach, shortness of breath and palpitation of the heart. Being perfectly innocent they can be taken at any time and under any circumstances. The most delicate female, when an aperient is required, may have recourse to them, and they will act as a preventative against the nervous and hysterical affections which so frequently arise from continued constipation.

TAR AND FEATHERS.

Just before the breaking out of the revolution, a man by the name of Ditson, belonging to Billerica, Mass., was tarred and feathered by the British soldiers, under the orders of Lieutenant Nesbit. The British officers wish ed to prevent the Americans from purchasing guns, and in order to furnish an opportunity to inflict punishment, and to raise occasion for serious quarrel, a soldier was ordered to offe the countryman an old rusty musket. Ditso caught at the bait, and purchased the gun fo three dollars. He was thereupon seized, an after being confined in the guard-house a night, was stripped entirely naked, and cover ed with tar and feathers, and in that condition paraded through the streets of Boston. Th Yankees, however, began to collect in great numbers, and the military fearing for the own safety, dismissed the man and retreate

TAR AND FEATHERS.

Just before the breaking out of the revolution, a man by the name of Ditson, belonging to Billerica, Mass., was tarred and feathered, by the British soldiers, under the orders of Lieutenant Nesbit. The British officers wished to prevent the Americans from purchasing guns, and in order to furnish an opportunity to inflict punishment, and to raise occasion for a serious quarrel, a soldier was ordered to offer the countryman an old rusty musket. Ditson caught at the bait, and purchased the gun for three dollars. He was thereupon seized, and after being confined in the guard-house all night, was stripped entirely naked, and covered with tar and feathers, and in that condition paraded through the streets of Boston. The Yankees, however, began to collect in great numbers, and the military fearing for their own safety, dismissed the man and retreated to the barracks.

Thus far the incident is related by a contemporary historian. What follows we have from the lips of the old continental himself. Many a time and oft have we heard him relate the story, with clenched hands and eyes flashing fire, and always with this ending-" But I had my revenge!" When he was dismissed by the British, he talled for his gun, which during the operation of tarring and feathering had been taken from him. " Take the gun and be d-d!" said the offi-

"But not the last that will use one," said Ditson, as he grasped the weapon, "and mark me, Sir, I,ll have my revenge."

"The cock is clear game," said the officer, turning to his companions with a laugh, "but he had better ruffle his feathers on his own dunghill!"

Ditson, by the aid of soap and warm water, got rid of his feathery coat; but the idea of the insult clung to his mind, burning deeper and deeper like the shirt of Nessus. He longed for an opportunity of revenge. It was the theme of his thoughts waking or sleeping. He dreamt of it by night-he pondered on the

An opportunity was not long wanting for that purpose. His country flew to arms to redress its public grievances; and he to revenge his private ones. As soon as he heard that the British had marched to Concord, he seized his rusty musket, and ran to the scene of ac-

"What are you going to do?" said his neighbors, as they saw him unvoking his team in the middle of the field, and at an unseasonable hour of the day.

"I'm going to pay the red coats for the tar and feathers," said Ditson, setting his teeth firmly together. "Come on, and you shall see sport."

"But you are not going to take that old rusty piece ?" said one. But I am though," said Ditson; "I shall take none the worst sight, for its being rusty." He hastened to the field of fight, and his neighbors went with him. Having selected the bough of a thick tree, by the way side, whither the British were on their retreat, he climbed into them, and there, securely esconced and taking deliberate aim, every shot from the old rusty musket told one. "I aimed" said Ditson, "particularly at the officers; and the first man I dropped was the commander of the tar kettle. That did me more good than the best dinner I ever ate in my life. "There !" I could'nt help exclaiming "I told you I'd have my revenge!" Half a dozen shots were fired into the tree-but they were fired at random, for I was well secured in the boughs, and only two bullets went through my hat. My bosom felt lighted as soon as the officer fell. The tar seemed, as it were, to loosen from my skin, and I felt fifty to whisper, 'take care of the weeds.' per cent, better. THE NEGLECTED GARDEN. I had a beautiful little spot of earth, and it was given me for my own, that in it I might exercise my skill in gardening, and display my taste in cultivating flowers. So I dug it up with great care, picking out every stone; and

My mother looked at my garden, and I wondered what she would say; for she was all mildness and never spoke away, and, as I was doing so, heard her sigh ; and that was all I heard.

Yet this garden, all overspread with weeds, and speaking as plainly of my neglect as an inanimate thing could speak, was, after all, the best friend I ever knew; and I will tell home from school one day, tired and vexed, and, indignantly throwing down my books, I exclaimed, 'I will never study any more; it is of no use; I am tired of such drudgery.'

'My son,' said that kind parent, 'do you remember your garden? What choked the growth of your flowers? And what is destroying your peace of mind? Is it not some weed that might be rooted out now, but which, if you suffer it to remain, will overspread all the lovely and amiable traits you possess?' There was a gentleness in the manner in which she said it that overcame me. Had they been harsh words, I am sure I should not have heeded them so much; but I saw the re-

THE subscribers have for sale Hathaway's Pater Hot Air Cooking Stoves. These Stoves are said to be superior to any thing of the kind yet invented. They are so constructed that they may be used in summer without any disagreeable effects from the heat, and in winter (by changing the position of the Stove) the same fuel will produce a very great amount of heat in the room. As evidence of the value and convenience of these Stoves, we offer the following recommendation from the Rev. Daniel Leach, formerly of this town, selected from a great number of testimon:als we have seen, given by different individuals who have used this kind of Stove.

Cooking Stoves.

J. G. HATBAWAY. Sir-In answer to your inquiries respecting the Stove I procured of you a short time since, I have no hesitation in saying, that it is, in my opinion, decidedly superior to every other cooking apparatus with which I am acquainted. From experiments which I have made, I am satisfied that it is admirably fitted for every kind of cooking; and that there is a saving of one half of the fuel usually consamed in stoves of the same dimensions. In fine, I consider it " ne plus ultra" of human invention in cook-DANIEL LEACH. Roxbury, April 26, 1839.

Quincy, Jan. 11.

He asks, " why leave your native soil?" Because, it wont repay one's toil. When our forefathers settled here, They wronged the wild beasts, that is clear-This land of rocks, dens, brake and brier Was made for wolves and serpents dire; While, on the prairies of the west, Such varmints scarce can make a nest. So long as man here keeps his station, He's wronging, then, the brute creation; If any wish to shun this error, They'll find the west no land of terror. Then let us go there to reside, And let wild beasts come here to hide.

" To build of logs and trash"-ha-ha-Man! they have saw-mills, brick-yards there. Good houses, too, are not so rare, Full many a town has some to spare.

But, " when you kill the prairie fowl, The prairie wolf is sure to growl." Take courage, man, wolves seldom bite, When they can save themselves by flight. And as to serpents, great or small, The hogs will soon destroy them all; No snake can harm a hog, 'tis said, Not even the poisonous copper-head. Then like the chief of Wantley Hall, Who slew his foes with nothing at all, Just go to the west, dismiss your fears, And wolves and snakes will soon be scarce.

"To live by the chace" -no need of that, Though, where wild turkies and deer are fat, What harm to shoot one now and then, Or, if you please, a prairie hen. But would you cultivate the ground, Your grain and cattle so abound, That you may soon have ample store, To match the patriarchs of yore. You may find leisure too and ease, To follow any art you please; And, dont stare wildly, if I say, That science deigns to march that way; While poesy and song repair To many a sylvan bower there. Ave, western folks are not such fools, But that they have some churches, schools. I know of many a new town there, That's not a whit behind you here; Nor do I judge from some stray elf, I've seen that country for myself. I ve seen a Houshier, live and kicking, I've eaten many a prairie chicken, I've kept a wolf, sir, for a pet, And might perhaps have had him yet, But bringing him to yankee land Was what his wolfship could'nt stand. He sickened on the way, and died. Poor Lupus! still I have his hide. But pardon me, I am digressing; I must wind up without expressing One half the feelings of surprise To which J. T. has given rise. He deems the west a land of varmints, Where people dress in wild-cat garments, Eat raw bears, buffaloes and deers, And soon grow wolfy 'bout the ears. Well, if he will believe so, let him, Though in the right I'd like to set him ; For one, I like there what I've seen, And shall return there soon again. J. T. may call me, fool, and scoff-

ANECDOTES.

A few weeks more and I am o-p-h.

A Dose of Salts. A captain of an eastern vessel at the lowest prices; passing an auction room near Wall street, New York, entered and bought two cases of knives and rings, at so much per bundle. He was told that there were forty-two bundles in one case, and twenty-one in the ble, drake-neck and bottle green, Oxford mixt. other. He was told by the auctioneer that the price amounted to nine dollars and twenty-five cents. The captain tendered a ten dollars note. Upon receiving this, the auctioneer, instead of giving him a receipt the bill amounted to thirty-five dollars and twenty-five brown and black. money, as security for the payment of the purchase. seilles and silk. All reasoning on the captain's part proved ineffectual, and he went away without goods or money.

The Captain applied to a lawyer who told him he had no remedy at law. He then went down to his vessel, mustered all hands, and proceeded to the store, "Going-going-going!" said the auctioneer, as the captain entered, with the inquiry, "Do you know me?" " Don't come here stopping the sales-going-going " Gone!" shouted the skipper as he put in his mallet and floored the auctioneer.

" Now," said the skipper, as the auctioneer rose, crew had helped himself to a box of goods, and inquired, "I say Capting, will this answer for that 'ere ten dollars, and the change you just gave him?" The auctioneer, finding matters serious and having quite a quantum of such a "dose of salts," handed out a ten dollar note, to be rid of his customers. The Captain bade him good morning, assuring him that though he might try shaves on all other natives, he must not think to come it over a down easter.

will not follow the use of these Lozenges.

To females in delicate health. The Peristaltic Lozenges are strongly recommended to the notice of every lady, having obtained the sanction and approbation of several eminent gentlemen of the Medical Profession, as a safe and valuable medicine in removing obstructions and relieving all other inconveniences to which the female frame is liable, especially those which arise at an early period of life, rom want of exercise and general debility of the system. They create an appetite, correct indigestion, remove giddiness and nervous headache, and are eminently useful in windy disorders, pains in the stomach, shortness of breath and palpitation of the heart. frequently arise from continued constipation.

YANKEE INGENUITY. A third person is one of my neighbors, who can see nothing done without showing you a "cuter way," and who sitting on the sill of the barn, is amusing himself, quite of his own accord, with beheading, cleaning, and picking an unfortunate duck, whose leg was accidentally bet with great difficulty. He was often chasin cow-hide boots, frock of fustian, and broadbreathing from about with the flail, the individual from whom I have stepped apart, and shall put a philosopher's estimate.

shut them up, and send word to the owners to come and take them away.' 'Wal! It's a chore, if you ever tried it, to catch a hog, if he's middlin' spry, and when he's cotch, you've got to feed him, by law, till he's sent for; and it don't pay, mister." 'But you charge for the feed,' says the other.

'Pesky little, I tell ye. Pig fodder's cheap,

'I would give a bushel of that handsome corn,' said I, 'to know how to be rid of them.' 'Be so perlite as to measure it out, mister, while I head in that hog. I'll show you how the deacon kept 'em out of the new buryin' ground while the fence was buildin."

at three hogs, now leisurely turning up the grass at the road-side. For a reason I did not at the moment conceive, he presently made a dash at the thinnest of the three, a hungry looking brute, built with an approach to the grey-hound, and missed catching him by an arm's length. Uuluckily for the hog, however, the road was lined with crooked rail-fence, which deceived him with constant promise of escape by a short turn, and by skilful heading minutes, he was cornered at last, and secured to adopt the following articles as the constituby the hind leg.

He drove the hog before him wheelbarrow fashion, into an open cow-pen, and put up the bar. The boy (his son who had been waiting for him outside the barn) brought him a few ears of ripe corn, and as soon as the hog had recovered his breath a little, he threw them into the pen, and drew out a knife from his pocket, which he whetted on the rail before him.

' Now,' said he, as the voracious animal, unaccustomed to such apetizing food, seized ravenously on the corn, it's accordin' to law to take up a stray hog and feed him, aint it ?"

'Certainly.'

We would hereby give notice to all persons By this time the greedy creature began to possessing the requisite qualifications, whose show symptoms of choking, and my friend's denames are omitted in the above list, that we sign became clearer.

WHIC MEETING IN QUINCY. The following was sung at the late meeting of the whig citizens of this town by Mr. Swan omit last week for want of space.

JIM AND I; Or the latest News from Boston. Our weekly stent last night was done, Sir, 'Twas just twelve pairs of shoes-And so we went to town to-day, And got the latest news, Sir.,

Yankee Doodle is the song, For mirth and merry stories-Vankee Doodle is the tune, That always beat the Tories.

Judge Morton now is Governor, I'll tel ye how 'twas done, Sir--They gave him all the spurious votes, And squeezed him in by ONE, Sir. Yankee Doodle is the song, &c.

But he has shown the cloven foot-And so his day is past, Sir-They do not like a customer, That wants the devil's last, Sir-Yankee Doodle, &c.

The State House it is full of rats, Of Custom House extraction-They've tasted Uncle Sam's good malt, And leve it to distraction.

Yankee Doodle, &c.

And now, with Morton at their head, For State crib they're gnawing-You'd think old Babel's come again, If you could hear 'em jawing-Yankee Doodle, &c.

There's Tarbell's teeth are sharp and long-And Allen's tongue is longer-And Henshaw is a wharfer strong, His appetite is stronger.

Yankee Doudle, &c.

These fellows all pretend to love The people like the dickens-And I'm inclined to think its true-As foxes loves the chickens-Yankee Doodle, &c.

When Jm and I had seen the House, And leard the fellows prate, Sir We stopped to see the Senate too-The big bugs of the State, Sir. Yankee Doodle, &c.

We took our hats with rev'rence off -And gated around the board. Sir-

But when we twigged our DR. WALES,

We thought we should have roared, Sir.

Yankee Doodle, &c. Our Norfelk County Williams seemed. An owl upon a roost, Sir-They say he's Bancroft's supple tool, And hojes to get a boost, Sir.

Yankee Doodle, &c. One Gen'al Pond got up to speak-His threat seemed full of feathers-Jim tipped the wink, and said "I guess, He s short of upper leathers."
Yankee Doodle, &c.

Old Whitnarsh then began to roar, With elequence no doubt, Sir. But Jim and I could find no one, Who knew what 'twas about Sir. Yankee Doodle, &c.

And then I man- his name was Wood, Got up and made a speech, Sir-To prove he " nateral rights of man." To any body's seat, Sir Yankee Doodle, &c.

And then one Parker, he arose, And seemed to go ahead, Sir .-But after all his work was botched-He had'st waxed his thread, Sir. Yankee Doodle, &c.

And then one Upton, he did put This Parker on a lap stone-And pounded till the fellow cried " For God's sake-loose the Strap, Sir,

Yankee Doodle, &c.

One Mensur then began to speak-But did'nt stick to facts, Sir-And tho' he seemed a clever chap, His work-it wanted wax. Sir-Yankee Doodle, &c.

So Quincy rose and said as how, He thought he'd make it stick, Sir-And while he made the fellows laugh, He stuck 'em to the quick, Sir. Yankee Doodle, &c.

Well, Jim and I now went away, And got the latest news, Sir-Old Harrison is gaining ground-And Martin's got the blues, Sir. Yankee Doodle, &c.

The people think its time for change, Where Change is getting scarce, Sir-When every man is growing poor, Except the men in place. Sir. Yankee Doodle, &c Old Tip, they say, was never beat, And Martin knows the fact, Sir, He'll give poor Kinderhook a heat By all the people backed, Sir. Yankee Doodle, &c.

Hurrah my boys for Harrison! Who does'nt care for mammon, Let's try a patriot for a turn -We've had enough of gammon. Yankee Doodle, &c.

Come on my boys! and let us try The Hero, Farmer, Friend, SirsCome all ye Working men and help The Workie of the Bend, Sir-Yankee Doodle, &c.

Come give him now three hearty cheers-And next our votes shall follow. He beat the British in the wars-He'll beat the Tories hollow. Yankee Doodle, &c.

The subjoined, written for the occasion by a delegate, was not sung as he unfortunately left it at home.

> HARRISON' BIRTH DAY. We meet this day to celebrate A patriot hero's birth-Our souls with buoyant hope elate, Our hearts disposed to mirth.

For though misrule for years hath spread, Disasters o'er the land, And though prosperity hath fled Before the vulture band—

Who-still unsatisfied-have preyed Upon our hard earned gold, And promised, flattered, coaxed, betrayed, Like demagogues of old :-

VAN BUREN'S race is run, His knell is sounded in the praise Of gallant HARRISON. Up then, OLD NORFOLK, join the band

We see the dawn of better days ;

Which gathers like the waves, To sweep from our insulted land Corruption's treacherous slaves. UP QUINCY-for the watchfire burns

Within your borders bright:

Who to that watchfire ever turns

Sustaining freedom's laws.

But gathers warmth and light Be true as your own ADAMs then. As firm in freedom's cause, Acquit yourselves like gallent men

And now three cheers for HARRISON ! Who leads us to the field : To him in eighteen forty-one Inglorious VAN must yield.

The Secretary of State has politely furnished me with the report of Massachusetts State Prison for 1839. It appears that the income for the year ending Sept. 30, 1839, was $43,025 32. Disbursemants, $38,392 03 leaving a balance of profits to the Commonwealth of $4,633 27. Whole number of convict in 1839, four hundred and seven. Seven have been discharged on the expiration of their sentences, seven by pardon or remission, and five have died, making a total of eighty nine, leaving three hundred and eighteen convicts now there. Of the one hundred and four received during the past year, four are under sentence for crimes against the person, and one hundred for offences against morals and property. Of the convicts received during the past year, twenty-nine are natives of Massachusetts. fifty four are natives of other States of the Union, and twenty-one are foreigners. Eleven offenders are there from fifteen to twenty years of age and two veterans from seventy-five to eighty years. Sixteen are in for

The most important subject before the Legislature the past week has been the discussion on a hill increasing the capital of the Sandwich Glass Company. The matter I assure you, has been thoroughly handled by both parties in the House. Several important considerations grew out of the debates, first, the nature and powers of Corporations. Second, whether members of the House, having a direct and personal interest in corporations, ought to be allowed to vote on the question of an increase of capital, or the granting of additional powers to those corporations, and thirdly on the acceptance or rejection of the bill. The omnipotency of charters and corporate bodies and the expediency of creating an additional number, are daily munications into our columns, we do not of course adopt the legislation will soon nearly grow out of fashion in the have a right to vote on such questions even where they are personally interested. COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS. ORFOLK ss. At a Justice's Court held before me, the subscriber, one of the Justices of the FOUND between the Neponset Bridge and the freight.

TOUND between the Neponset Bridge and the Hancock House, in Quincy, a bar of Steel, which the owner can obtain by proving property and paying one thousand eight hundred and forty, Abraham Hobart of Braintree, in the County of Norfolk, yeoman, Plaintiff, against Seth Hurlbutt of Weymouth, in the said County, Cordwainer, defendant, in a plea of the case; for that on the first day of March last, at said Braintree, in consideration that the plaintiff, at the JOSIAH BRIGHAM & Co. have on hand and are constantly receiving a prime assortment of FALL AND WINTER GOODS, which they offer for sale at the lowest prices;

Braintree, in consideration that the plaintin, at the special request of the said Hurlbutt, had permitted him quietly to hold and occupy a certain house belonging to the plaintiff, from the day last mentioned to the twenty-first day of October following, which he held accordingly, promised to pay him nineteen dollars fif-English, French, and American BROADCLOTHS ty-eight cents on demand; yet he has not paid the same, to the damage of the plaintiff (as he says) the sum of twenty dollars; and it appears that the defendant is out of the Commonwealth. It is hereby ordered by me, the said Justice, that the plaintiff give notice of the pendency of this action, by causing a true and attested copy of this order to be published three weeks successively in the Quincy Patriot, a newspaper printed at Quincy, in said County, the last publication to be thirty days at least before Saturday, the twenty-eighth day of March next, at two o'clock in SILK VELVETS—best black, blue, green and afternoon, to which time the action is continued to be heard and tried before me, at my dwelling-house, in

Cooking Stoves. THE subscribers have for sale Hathaway's Patent Hot Air Cooking Stoves. These Stoves are said to be superior to any thing of the kind yet invented. They are so constructed that they may be used in summer without any disagreeable effects from the heat, and in winter (by changing the position of the Stove) the same fuel will produce a very great amount of heat in the room. As evidence of the value and convenience of these Stoves, we offer the following recommendation from the Rev. Daniel Leach, formerly of this town, selected from a great number of testimonials we have seen, given by different individuals who have used this kind of Stove. J. G. HATHAWAY. Sir-In answer to your inquiries respecting the Stove I procured of you a short time since, I have no hesitation in saying, that it is, in my opinion, decidedly superior to every other cooking apparatus with which I am acquainted. From experiments which I have made, I am satisfied that it is admirably fitted for every kind of cooking; and that there is a saving of one half of the fuel usually consumed in stoves of the same dimensions. In fine, I consider it "ne plus ultra" of human invention in cook-DANIEL LEACH. ing stoves.

C. C. will please to pardon me For writing in your paper, Two weeks ago, to use your words, " And cutting such a caper."

I did not know that he'd been off. Till by the Quincy Printer; I learnt that he had been away, And come again to winter.

He judges me quite incorrect, And then attempts to prove it-And if a doubt lurks in my breast, He thinks that he can prove it.

And how? why he has been there once And knows about the prairies; Seen wolves, snakes, hogs, hens, sheep and deer Rich farmers and good dairies.

Log houses one would think were few Aud very far between them ; But people here have honest friends. Who own them, others seen them.

I do not scoff at C. C.'s wit Nor at his erudition; I fancy these will justify His holding a commission.

He seems to know about the wolf, And says that he has had one : And now laments that such a friend As Lupus is a dead one

He says the hogs destroy the snakes, I'd ask him if they eat them? If so, then he may eat the swine, Twould sicken me to meet them.

As to the danger which may rise, From being torn or bitten By wolves and snakes, I think C. C. Is wise above what is written.

He makes me think what Reynard said Unto his fellow-creature "There's peace with quadrupeds and fowl, And I've become the preacher."

Canis agpeared in sight, and then The Tox began to "go it." " Why do you run?" enquired the Cock, "I guess the dog don't know it !"

Just so I apprehend C. C. Commences prophecying; Like him who said to mother Eve. Be not afraid of dying.

Those who habituate themselves, To rambling and to roving ! I think would be denounced by one, As coming in sheep's clothing.

One vrey common objection urged by those who but partially understand the principle of curing disease by purgation, as promulgated by the North American College of Health, is that although reiterated purging will ural to the bowels, as walking is to the feet or labor to the hands; and like every other function must be duly exercised in order to retain their energies.

Nature is constantly giving us examples of the salutary effects of purging. We find her perseveringly employed, not only in carrying off the residium of the natural food, by the daily evacuations of the bowels; but we frequently see her by a natural diarrhœa, cure some of our most obstinate complaints.

Nature, by always adopting this one plea in the cure of disease, points most emphatically to the course she would have us pursue. The public are cautioned against the many quacks who promise what they cannot perform.

Having worn the different kinds of Trusses, more or less, that have been offered to the public for the last twenty years, from the different patent manufactories, and now continues to wear those of his own manufacture, he is now able to decide, after examining the rupture, what sort of Truss is best to adapt to all the different cases that occur, and he has on hand as good Trusses, and will furnish any kind of Truss as cheap as can be had elsewhere. Any person that purchases a Truss at this establishment, if it does not suit, can exchange until they are well suited without extra charge.

The subscriber manufactures as many as twenty different kinds of Trusses, among which are the different kinds similar to those that the late Mr. John Beath, of this city, formerly made, together with the Patent Elastic Spring Truss, with spring pads; Trusses without steel springs-these give relief in all cases of rupture, and in a large portion produce a perfect cure-they can be worn day and night; improved Hinge and Pivot Truss; Umbilical Spring Trusses, made in four different ways; Trusses with ball and socket joints; Trusses for Prolapsus Ani, by wearing which, persons troubled with a decant of the rectum can ride on horseback with perfect ease and safety. Mr. F. also makes Trusses for Prolapsus Uteri, which have answered in cases where pessaries have failed. Suspensory Trusses, Knee Caps, and Back Boards are always kept on hand. As a matter of convenience and not of speculation, the undersigned will keep on hand the following kinds from other manufactories, which they can have; if his do not suit them after a fair trial, they can exchange for any of them :- Dr. Hull's; Reed's Spiral Truss; Rundell's do; Farr's do; Salmon's Ball and Socket; Sherman's Patent; French do; Marsh's Improved Truss; Bateman's do; Shaker's Rocking russes; Heintzleman's India Rubber Pad, made in Philadelphia; Ivory turned Pad Trusses; Stone's do, double and single; also Trusses for children of all

Any kind of Trusses repaired at short notice and made as good as when new.

Ladies wishing for any of these instruments will be waited upon by Mrs. Foster at the above place. The subscriber makes and keeps on hand STEEL-ED SHOES for deformed and crooked feet, and is doing this every week for children and infants in this city, and from out of the city. Tomato Pills.

THE extraordinary virtues of these Pills, in a great degree, depend upon a new and hitherto unknown vegetable principle, which was, after laborious investigation, discovered and first used as a medicine by the author; and from its being first obtained from the Tomato Plant, he has denominated it Tomatine. His at-tention was first called to the subject in the summer of 1835, by the following circumstances.

Two cases of inveterate disease of long standing (one of consumption, the other scrofula, combined with the imprudent use of calomel) both considered hopeless. and both having been abandoned as incurable, were accidentally cured by the extravagant use of Tomatoes for food. This, together with the incidental remarks In using the Indian Purgative, (or dunall Vegetable of the attending physicians gave the first impulse to hand, ready for any emergency. BANKS AND BANKING.

I do not think any man in his senses can hear a lecture of any character on that subject, "and still cling to the modern system of Banking." I did not hear Mr. Rantoul's lecture, but if he handled the subject well he must have convinced his hearers that this modern system of Banking is totally wrong. But who created this "modern system"? Who first introduced politics into the system? Who lent the whole weight of his high office and his personal popularity against the National Bank because it would not consent to become a political engine? Who, in his inveterate hostility to that institution, for that cause only, withdrew from it the government deposits in violation of law? Who, after crushing the National Bank, held out the government deposits as a bribe to State Banks? Who placed the government money, not in the best and soundest of the state institutions, but in such only, and without regard to their character in other respects as were under the management of his partizans? Who directed the Banks thus selected to loan the public money out liberally?

The answer to all these questions is matter of history .- Andrew Jackson and his pliant Secretaries.

And to whom were the public monies loaned by these selected Banks? To the merchant, the manufacturer, the mechanic-for legitimate purposes of business? Oh, no. To none of these but still to partizans. I can speak for the Pet Banks in Boston, for I was then a resident there. They never had any money for business men unless they were also Jackson men. The same principle governed them in making loans which governed Jackson in selecting them as treasury agents; and to be a thorough going, full "whole hog Jackson man" was equivalent to giving a good endor-

This, Sir, is "the moderm system of Banking" and to this system your Mr. Penn alludes. But he knows little of the subject he is writing about, and little of the history of the past ten years, if he thinks to lift this modern system from the shoulders of his party and place it upon those of the whigs.

At the commencement of the strife, Mr. Editor, the whigs entered their solemn protest against mixing up the currency of the country with politics; they predicted all the evils which have flowed from it, and did their utmost to stay the madman in his course who thus rashly periled the prosperity of his country to gratify personal revenge or promote his hurled him from his seat. He would have been schemes of ambition. I agree with Penn, fully, public money in the hands of partizans and to back our old system; our State Banks for local regulator of the currency-the great instrument for equalizing the exchanges, and the free unshackled government agent. Give us back the old system under which we grew and prospered beyond precedent-cut politics loose from Banking, and leave Banks to the management

> At the risk of being tedious, I must say one word about the Bank of the United States and the United States Bank.

> Your Mr. Penn-without making the assertion-intends to have his readers identify these two Institutions. As I said before, he knows little of the history of the past ten years or he intends wilfully to mislead-In plainer words, he is ignorant or false, and in either case a poor teacher.

> The Bank of the United States was a national institution. It was bound to receive at all points and disburse at all points the public revenue, without charge to the government. It had branches established in every past of the Union and its bills were current as gold and silver, not only all through the United States but in many foreign countries. It was under the immediate supervision, but not under the control of-the United States government. It was its pride as well as its duties, to make the Exchanges between the most distant parts of one country as nearly equal as possible, and the simple fact that its own bills were current everywhere prevented the Directors, if they were so disposed, from charging exorbitant exchanges. But it is needless to enlarge for every body remembers how bank business was done for ten years preceding the removal of the deposites-and every man, but a political partizans or a "poping jay" political lecture, like your Rantoul and your Cushing, would be glad to see those good old times back again.

The United States Bank is a state institution. It has nothing to do with the government money. It has no branches except for its own convenience-Its bills are not and never were entitled to any more credit than those of other large state Banks. It is not under the supervision of the general government to any useful extent-and, most important of all, the directors deem it their duty to obtain the high-

The two institutions in their main and most important features are diametrically opposed to regulator of the country-by its presence at all points keeping in check any tendency to overissue on the part of state Banks-keeping ex--distributing its capitol to aid legitimate busis under untoward circumstances by purchasing the debts and assets of the national bank at an r enormous premium and paying a heavy loans for its charter; without any power to regulate be the exchanges if it had the will-and without the will because such a course was not for its

Your correspondent-speaking of the National Bank-asks triumphantly "who will regulate that?" Our Government was constituted as the great political regulator. When it fails in its duty-as it has for many past years, most egregiously-I ask, who will regulate that? The answer to both questions is the same. Those whose interest it is so to do. The stockholders of the Bank will regulate their Directors-and the Stockholders of the government will regulate their officers. Both may be duped for a time, but their own interest and welfare will rouse them at last, and the work of "regulation," when it is commerced, will be thoroughly done.

Cooking Stoves. THE subscribers have for sale Hathaway's Patent Hot Air Cooking Stoves. These Stoves are said to be superior to any thing of the kind yet invented. They are so constructed that they may be used in summer without any disagreeable effects from the heat, and in winter (by changing the position of the Stove) the same fuel will produce a very great amount of heat in the room. As evidence of the value and convenience of these Stoves, we offer the following recommendation from the Rev. Daniel Leach, formerly of this town, selected from a great number of testimonials we have seen, given by different individuals who have used this kind of Stove. J. G. HATHAWAY. Sir-In answer to your inquiries respecting the Stove I procured of you a short time since, I have no hesitation in saying, that it is, in my opinion, decidedly superior to every other cooking apparatus with which I am acquainted. From experiments which I have made, I am satisfied that it is admirably fitted for every kind of cooking; and that there is a saving of one half of the fuel usually consumed in stoves of the same dimensions. In fine, I consider it " ne plus ultra" of human invention in cook-DANIEL LEACH.

TO J. T. ONCE MORE. J. T. thy wrath is getting hot. Pray have a care it burn thee not; Like Wilhelm Kieft, of Dutch renown, Who swore he'd put the Yankees down, And, failing, raved so, day by day, His wrath consumed his nose away; And when death came to snuff him out, There wasn't left bit of his snout. Twas hard to see one squib thy verses, No doubt, but shouldn't pay in curses; You say, I'm up to that same trick, Played off on Eve once by old Nick. Now, none but blackguards deem it civil To liken others to the devil; And then about "sheep's clothing," man, Thy meaning I don't understand.

I found that many a bugbear whim, Of wolves and snakes and monsters grim, Had seized thy fancy, and I tried To drive the phantoms from thy side : What I meant well, thou takest in dudgeon, And growlest like a sour curmudgeon. Didst thou deny what I have said. I could full well before thee spread; I've seen that country "once" you learn-Please let me tell you, sir, in turn, I've lived there more than one short year, And come but on a visit here; And then my occupation there. Brought me exchange prints far and near, So that my views about the west Were not gained from one Hooshier's nest. I'm loath to say more of myself, But if you'll call, I've on my shelf Such documents, as will prove true Much more than I've been telling you.

Log-cabins, west, I know, are common. I've often eat a meal from one; But he that here has means to build, Can do it there, if he's so willed. You ask, "do hogs eat up the snakes?" Yes, fast as you'd eat buck-wheat cakes. It makes Ohio farmers swear, That snakes with them are now so rare. For pork there now, before they pack it, Needs grain to fatten it for market. Hast eaten western pork, dear man? May be, hast eaten sarpents then. But go there, pen your hogs up close, Then you could feed them as you chose.

You say, to risk being torn or bitten Out west, "is wise above what's written"; Aye, 'bove what thou hast written, sir, And wouldn't that make a wiseacre? Thy tales of wolves and things that crawl Will do to frighten babes withal; But couldest thou bring no other terrors To show an emigrant his errors?

You would denounce a man for "roving," That is to say, for frequent moving. Now to go west, the merest dunce Knows, that he needs to move but once. Men, too, have sometimes wiser grown For seeing lands beyond their own. Plants live and die upon one spot; So man may vegetate and-what? He may a dozen ideas gain, And con them over-that is plain. Views so contracted some esteem The height of wisdom, while they deem " A soul, no bigger than a cricket, Most sure to squeeze through heaven's wicket." For me, I choose, whene'er I can, To travel in a stranger land.

But lest I tire the printer's patience, I'll end my strain and make obeisance. What hinders making verse sublime Of old wives' fables set to rhyme? Then write J. T. with might and main, I cannot vex thy muse again ; For ere another week has run. I shall be far to the setting sun.

THE Indian Purgative Pills possess two very remar-L kable properties. One is, they cannot possibly do injury or harm; and the other is, they are always sure

This may appear strange to some; but when we reflect, that they cure disease upon Nature's own plan, viz: Purifying the blood of all corrupt humors, it will not appear wonderful that they are perfectly innocent, and at the same time all powerful in the cure of disease.

More than five thousand persons in New England, have been cured of Intermittent, Remittent, Nervous, Inflammatory and Putrid Fevers; Measles, Erysipelas, and small Pox; Inflamations of the Brain, of the Throat, of the Lungs, of the Liver, of the Intestines, the Kidneys, and the Bladder; Rheumatism, both Acute and Chronic, Spitting and Vomiting of blood, Diarrhea and Dysentery; Syncope, Apoplexy and Paralysis; Dyspepsia and Hypochondriasis; Tetanus; Epilepsy, Whooping Cough, Asthma and palpitation of the Heart; Incipient Consumption, and Maramus; Dropsy of the Head, the Chest, the Abdomen and the Limbs; Scroffula, Scurvy and Syphylis; Bronchocele and Cancers Gravel and Stranguary, Loss of Appetite, Costiveness, Sick head-ache, flatulency, Pains in the stomach, Pain in the Back and Side, and other complaints of the Kidmony of thousands, have some effect in convincing the the invalid, who perhaps may have suffered for years, with some painful disease, that he too, by the use of the INDIAN PURGATIVE PILLS, may also be freed from pain, and once more taste the sweets of Health. It surely will, and we trust the day is not far distant when Purgation, the only sure and certain method of curing disease, will be universally acknowledged, and DIS-EASE WHOLLY DRIVEN FROM OUR LAND.

On trial of them in my own family, and some f them personally, I have more than realized their favorable anticipations. They are what they profess to be-not quack nostrums-but skilfully prepared anudotes for some of the most afflictive of human diseases. I know that they are highly esteemed, and frequently prescribed, by some of the most respectable of the regular practitioners of medicine in the city and elsewhere, and I do not hesitate to commend them as a valuable addition to our materia medica, and a safe, as well as eminently useful remedy for the

According to the Natural or Indian theory, all our complaints owe their origin to one cause, viz : the shutdues the violence of HOOPING COUGH, and ef- ting up of those outlets, (the Skin, Kidneys and Bowfects a speedy cure. Hundreds who have been giv- els) through which nature has intended, that all corrupt en up by their physicians as incurable with "CON-SUMPTION," have been restored to perfect health When these become closed, it is like the shutting up of y it.

REV. JONATHAN GOING, D. D. President of new outlet, or the country becomes inundated; just so Granville College, Ohio, says-" he was laboring un- with the human body; if the natural drains become der a severe cold, cough and hoarseness, and that his closed, the humors accumulate in the system, and eidifficulty of breathing was so great that he felt himself ther find vent in the form of various diseases, such as in imminent danger of immediate suffocation but was Fevers Rheumatism, Cutaneous Eruptions, Gout, &c., or Apoplexy, and death ends the scene. The only sensible method, therefore, of preventing and curing disease, is to keep the body continually purged of all he utseless and corrupt humors; and for this purpose no medicine will be found so effectual, as the Indian Purgative, because, it is the only one whose power with Consumption, was perfectly restored by three bottles. — Dr. Hamilton of St. James, South Carolithe body. Whilst under the influence of this singular medicine, the body will be kept in a gentle but effectual perspiration; a proper discharge of urine will be experienced; the stomach and bowels will be thoroughly cleansed; and the blood will be stimulated to purify itself.

One vrey common objection urged by those who but partially understand the principle of curing disease by purgation, as promulgated by the North American College of Health, is that although reiterated purging will consumption, asthma, pains and weakness of the breast, it is decidedly the best medicine I have ever raise objections, appear to forget, that purging is as natcure disease; yet, that the repeated exercising of those ural to the bowels, as walking is to the feet or labor to the hands; and like every other function must be duly exercised in order to retain their energies.

What man in his senses would think of depriving his children of exercise, in order that they might be STRENGTHENED by ACTIVITY? And yet this absurdity is no greater, than the infatuation of those, who imagine the bowels can be injured by performing their NAT-URAL FUNCTIONS; or that disease can be cured by any other medicine than such as will remove the CAUSE from the body.

Nature is constantly giving us examples of the salutary effects of purging. We find her perseveringly ployed, not only in carrying off the residium of the natural food, by the daily evacuations of the bowels; but we frequently see her by a natural diarrhoea, cure some of our most obstinate complaints.

Nature, by always adopting this one plea in the cure of disease, points most emphatically to the course she would have us pursue. She seems to say in the most inviting manner, come, follow my example; cease using those mineral medicines, which serve only to cLog the wheels of life; and in their stead use VEGETA-BLE PURGATIVES, which being natured to our constitu-tions, ARE, in Truth, THE MEDICINE OF LIFE

The public are cautioned against the many quacks who promise what they cannot perform

Having worn the different kinds of Trusses, more or less, that have been offered to the public for the last twenty years, from the different patent manufactories, and now continues to wear those of his own manufacture, he is now able to decide, after examining the rupture, what sort of Truss is best to adapt to all the different cases that occur, and he has on hand as good Trusses, and will furnish any kind of Truss as cheap as can be had elsewhere. Any person that purchases a Truss at this establishment, if it does not suit, can exchange until they are well suited without extra charge.

The subscriber manufactures as many as twenty different kinds of Trusses, among which are the different kinds similar to those that the late Mr. John Beath, of this city, formerly made, together with the Patent Elastic Spring Truss, with spring pads; Trusses without steel springs—these give relief in all cases of rupture, and in a large portion produce a perfect cure -they can be worn day and night; improved Hinge and Pivot Truss; Umbilical Spring Trusses, made in four different way's; Trusses with ball and socket joints; Trusses for Prolapsus Ani, by wearing which, persons troubled with a decant of the rectum can ride on horseback with perfect ease and safety. Mr. F. also makes Trusses for Prolapsus Uteri, which have answered in cases where pessaries have failed. Suspensory Trusses, Knee Caps, and Back Boards are always kept on hand. As a matter of convenience and not of speculation, the undersigned will keep on hand the following kinds from other manufactories, which they can have; if his do not suit them after a fair trial, they can exchange for any of them :- Dr. Hull's; Reed's Spiral Truss; Rundell's do; Farr's do; Salmon's Ball and Socket; Sherman's Patent; French do; Marsh's Improved Truss; Bateman's do; Shaker's Rocking Trusses; Heintzleman's India Rubber Pad, made in Philadelphia; Ivory turned Pad Trusses; Stone's do, double and single; also Trusses for children of all

Any kind of Trusses repaired at short notice and made as good as when new. Ladies wishing for any of these instruments will be waited upon by Mrs. Foster at the above place. The subscriber makes and keeps on hand STEEL-ED SHOES for deformed and crooked feet, and is doing this every week for children and infants in this city, and from out of the city. Specimens of his workmanship may be seen at the manufactory.

He also informs individuals that he will not make their complaints known to any one, except when he permitted to refer to them-it being a misfortune, and young persons do not want their cases known. Tomato Pills.

THE extraordinary virtues of these Pills, in a great L degree, depend upon a new and hitherto unknown vegetable principle, which was, after laborious investigation, discovered and first used as a medicine by the author; and from its being first obtained from the Tomato Plant, he has denominated it Tomatine. His attention was first called to the subject in the summer of 1835, by the following circumstances.

Two cases of inveterate disease of long standing (one of consumption, the other scrofula, combined with the imprudent use of calomel) both considered hopeless, and both having been abandoned as incurable, were O'N or about the 13th Nov., near Quincy, a Receipt Book belonging to Ellis & Bosson, Seedsmen, band ready for any emergency. The skin and kidneys will each be stimulated to ciple, upon which its activity as a remedy depends. This was found upon trial in some cases of scrofula and glandular diseases, to exert a most powerful and salutary influence, far exceeding the most sanguine eximpure particles into the bowels; from whence they pectations. The public are cautioned against the many quacks who promise what they cannot perform

Having worn the different kinds of Trusses, more or less, that have been offered to the public for the last twenty years, from the different patent manufactories, and now continues to wear those of his own manufacture, he is now able to decide, after examining the rupture, what sort of Truss is best to adapt to all the different cases that occur, and he has on hand as good Trusses, and will furnish any kind of Truss as cheap as can be had elsewhere. Any person that purchases a Truss at this establishment, if it does not suit, can exchange until they are well suited without extra charge.

The subscriber manufactures as many as twenty different kinds of Trusses, among which are the different kinds similar to those that the late Mr. John Beath, of this city, formerly made, together with the Patent Elastic Spring Truss, with spring pads; Trusses without steel springs-these give relief in all cases of rupture, and in a large portion produce a perfect cure -they can be worn day and night; improved Hinge and Pivot Truss; Umbilical Spring Trusses, made in four different ways; Trusses with ball and socket joints; Trusses for Prolapsus Ani, by wearing which, persons troubled with a decant of the rectum can ride on horseback with perfect ease and safety. Mr. F. also makes Trusses for Prolapsus Uteri, which have answered in cases where possaries have failed. Suspensory Trusses, Knee Caps, and Back Boards are always kept on hand. As a matter of convenience and not of speculation, the undersigned will keep on hand the following kinds rom other manufactories, which they can have; if his do not suit them after a fair trial, they can exchange for any of them :- Dr. Hull's; Reed's Spiral Truss; Rundell's do; Farr's do; Salmon's Ball and Socket; Sherman's Patent; French do; Marsh's Improved Truss; Bateman's do; Shaker's Rocking Trusses; Heintzleman's India Rubber Pad, made in Philadelphia; Ivory turned Pad Trusses; Stone's do, double and single; also Trusses for children of all

Tomato Pills.

THE extraordinary virtues of these Pills, in a great degree, depend upon a new and hitherto unknown principle, which was, after laborious investigation, discovered and first used as a medicine by the uthor; and from its being first obtained from the Tomato Plant, he has denominated it Tomatine. His atention was first called to the subject in the summer of 1835, by the following circumstances

Two cases of inveterate disease of long standing (one of consumption, the other scrofula, combined with the imprudent use of calomel) both considered hopeless, and both having been abandoned as incurable, were accidentally cured by the extravagant use of Tomatoes for food. This, together with the incidental remarks of the attending physicians gave the first impulse to that investigation and analysis of the plant which resulted in discovering and concentrating this new principle, upon which its activity as a remedy depends. This was found upon trial in some cases of scrofula and glandular diseases, to exert a most powerful and salutary influence, far exceeding the most sanguine expectations. Later and more extended use and observation has proved it to be peculiarly applicable to all diseases of the blood, indigestion, obstructions, weak-

Written for the Quincy Patriot. SOCIETY.

Envious characters! Yes. There is a certain set of individuals in community who, while they appear to afford themselves but little comfort and happiness, are a continual antioyance to all within the sphere of their influence. These are they who are pained at their neighbor's prosperity, and cannot bear to see him happy. O pitiful wretches! would that your number was much less than it is, but thanks that it is no greater. Why were you created? And what could be the object in locating such sensitive and restless beings upon our earth? It must have been to show to the inhabitants of it, that they are not so badly off as it was possible to have made them.

The envious man generally aspires to be great. He aims to be high in place and unlimited in power. In short, in the language of the poet, he desires to > " Get the start of the rolling world, And bear the palm alohe.

And finding that he cannot do this by progression, but is outstripped by his fellows on either hand, he ingloriously turns round, and endeavors to keep foremost by impeding the progress of, and beating back all those who, he thinks, would otherwise go by him. Cruel creature! Is it not enough for thee that thou shouldst destroy thine own happiness by drinking at the bitter fountain of error, but must you, at the same time, make all those miserable who come within your reach? When the satanical passion of envy once becomes excited in an individual, he puts into operation all the engines of human misery and social discord against the unfortunate victim who happened to arouse him, which the deepest rooted malice could suggest and the most determined ingenuity devise. But we cannot stop any longer at this time, to disturb the quiet of the man of envy, if indeed it is possible for him to have a moment of peace. Nor should we if we could. For if he can receive a single ray of comfort in this world, let him enjoy it. As such blessings to him are like

"Angels visits, few and far between."

The man of envy truly deserves all the pity which it is possible for humanity to bestow, and so does the circle in which he moves.

Slander is another enormous evil. But this we will endeavor to dispose of by as few words as possible. This is one of the most common and effectual weapons used by the man of envy to accomplish his dastardly purposes. And it is as impossible for the custom of slander and good society to exist together, as it would be for open day and midnight darkness.

The slanderer is generally a man of low character, who instead of endeavoring to elevate himself to a level with his fellows, thinks it will be less labor, and hence more expedient, for him to drag them down to his own depths in degradation and misery. This he endeavors to do by base detraction. By taking from them what is declared by the "book of books," to be better than "precious ointment." The very worst of all thieving ! For he

POLITICAL ECONOMY. NO. 1.

MR. EDITOR-You publish a neutral paper, by which I presume you mean a paper that is not devoted to the interest of any man or any set of men, or any political party. I don't know that I have any objection to such a course, for I have neither favor nor affection for men who adopt a set of principles-right or wrongmerely for the sake of obtaining the honor and emoluments of office. Such men are not patriots; they are mere partizans, fighting for pay, and if I had my say they would fight a long time without getting any. I should like to see the good old times come back when a man should be elected to the first office in the people's gift without seeking for it; a man who, when elected, would appoint his subordinatesnot from clamorous, idle, noisy demagoguesbut from the industrious, talented and retiring, who would rather need urging to accept an office and on whom we might rely for the honest and full performance of their duties. Will that time ever come again ?

But, sir, however neutral you may be between the two great political parties of the day, young and powerful nation ought to be govern-I wish to know beforehand whether he will adopt and act upon the great principles that will best subserve the interest and welfare of my principles will not receive my vote. And with care and deliberation, make up our minds public servants the men who will best supply these wants. If we want a coat made, I think it would take a great deal of eloquence to persuade us that the best man to select for a tailor is a blacksmith; so if we want a horse shod, we could hardly be induced to employ a tailor.

The times are out of joint, Mr. Editor; we and see whether we want a blacksmith or a

If it please you, I propose, as leisure may be mine for the purpose, to give you my opinions of the disorder and the remedy, in a few brief essays on political economy, disconnected with what we generally term politics.

THE subscribers have for sale Hathaway's Patent Hot Air Cooking Stoves These Stoves are said to be superior to any thing of the kind yet invented. They are so constructed that they may be used in summer without any disagrecable effects from the heat, and in winter (by changing the position of the Stove) the same fuel will produce a very great amount of heat in the room. As evidence of the value and convenience of these Stoves, we offer the following recommendation from the Rev. Daniel Leach, formerly of this town, selected from a great number of testime als we have seen, given by different individuals who

Sir-In answer to your sequiries respecting the Stove I procued of you a short time since, I have no hesitation in saying, that it is, in my opinion, decidedly superior to every other cooking apparatus with which I am acquainted. From experiments which I have made, I am satisfied that it is admirably fitted for every kind of cooking; and that there is a saving of one half of the fuel usually consamed in stoves of the same dimensions. In fine, I consider it " ne plus ultra" of human invention in cook-DANIEL LEACH.

I send again to C. C. greeting, I'm little better of my beating ; My wounds however were not such, To need the use of cane or crutch. Yet after having such a blowing, I think I'd better be a going. I seldom get so smart a rap, Long shall I recollect the Clapp.

But bear with me till I've related What of the westward once was stated, (Some of my authors still survive) Of those who went to number five. There cows and sheep were very plenty, Some folks had ten and some had twenty, Pigs ready roasted made their tracks, With knives and forks stuck in their backs ; Yet after all their boasted riches, They could not buy a pair of breeches. They valued more a bank of clams, Than all their mutton, beef, or hams. Now if our lower class or upper, Ate for their breakfast, dinner, supper, Mush instead of steak or pies. Their valuation here might rise. Can't we as well deny our senses, Curtail a few of our expenses, Con the sod which gave as birth, As any other part of earth. Besides to wander through creation. To find a better habitation, Would cost the wealth of many men, -The subtle one might have 'em then. But who would people this great nation, Were all tenacious of their station; This might be done I think with ease, By emigrating by degrees. Perhaps of western speculators, C. C. has bought some hundred acres; And if a trifle could be made, Perhaps would like to make a trade. In the Bay State he wont get many, I'm doubtful whether he get any, To purchase or go off so far, Except some favorite femine. Few people near the great Atlantic Are so eccentric or romantic, To cast their treasures by the board, Which took them many years to hoard; Too many dread to make a sally From thence to Mississippi Valley-Nor, does it prove their courage small, To match the breakers in a squall The poorest, and the best of livers, Drink water from the western rivers; But water taken from the wells, Is sold like whiskey at hotels; The fever also and the ague. In summer and in autumn plague you; The diarrhea and other ills, Enrich monopolists of pills. The eastern states are not productive, Of such diseases so destructive; The water drunk from well or rill Is never swallowed with a pill. And has the wolf I've so much dreaded, By some strange process been beheaded; While eastern folks were all asleep, And bought another of a sheep. Or has the copper head and rattle, Though curst at first 'above all cattle,' Made overtures of peace with man, Agreeing not to bite again. If so I'm beaten now, " all hollow"-When he goes off if I don't follow-Build on your land a house C. C. Fit an apartment for

ORIGIN OF ROAST PIG.

Don't lick your chops, reader, in anticipation of our presenting you with a bona fide roast pig; for we are only going to tell you the manner by which such a tickler to gormandizers was first discovered. A Chinese writer says that mankind for the first seventy thousand ages of their existence ate their meat raw, tearing it in pieces with claws just as the Abyssinians did when the traveller Bruce bestrided the sources of the Nile. The art of roasting was accidentally discovered in manner following: A celebrated swine herd, Hoti, having gone out one day into the woods to collect food for his hogs, left his cottage in the care of his son Bo-ho, a great lubberly boy, half-fool, half rogue, who being fond of playing with fire, as yonkers of his age and capacity commonly are, let fall some sparks among some straw, whereby the cottage was burnt to ashes. And what was of much more importance to the owner was a fine litter of nine pigs which perished also. Bo-ho was in a dreadful fix; cold drops of sweat started from his brow as he gazed on the smoking ruins. Not so much was he frightened for the loss of the cottage as for the loss of the pigs. While he stood bewailing the loss of the young grunters, a flavour assailed his nostrils which he had never before experienced. He snuffed up the fragrant odor till the drool actually trickelled from his gaping mouth. He poked open the smoking straw and actually stuck his fingers into one of the hissing hot pigs; and to cool them, right booby fashion, rammed them into his mouth; and for the first time by mortal was roast pig tasted! The sensation was so delicious, that forthwith the blockhead fell to tearing up the hot pig and cramming it into his booby mouth, nor did he stop till the whole carcass had disappeared. Then seizing another of the lifeless little grunters, he began serving it in the same way, when his enraged father entered with a cudgel and began to rain blows upon the young scamp's shoulders like hail stones, which Bo-ho heeded not any more than if they had been so many fleas! "You graceless whelp," said the enraged sire, " it is not enough, is it, that you have burnt me down three houses with your dog's tricks and be hanged to you, but you must go to eating fire and the devil knows what! What have you got there-hey! answer me, knave!" " Oh, father, the pig! the roast pig! Do come and taste-do father !" Old Ho-ti was horror struck! He raved like a mad man, and cursed his son, and wished him at the tail end of the earth before he should be guilty of eating roast pig !

Bo-ho heeded not his father's wishes or his threats, but hauled out another hissing pig from the burning straw, and seizing in either hand a hind leg, tore it in twain, and threw the lesser half with all his strength plump against the chops of old Ho-ti. It is strange how a trifling circumstance will alter the temperament of an enraged man; for no sooner did Ho-ti lop out his tongue to cleanse his greasy chops-although he was bantering with himself whether or not he should put his son to death as an unnatural monster for eating roast pig-yet when he tasted the savory morsel, his ire vanished instanter, and both father and son sat quietly down, nor did they stop eating till they had devoured the whole nine roasted grunters. After this, Ho-ti's cottage was burnt down more frequently than ever. As often as a new litter of piggies saw the light of day, just so sure was Ho-ti's cottage burnt to the ground. Old Ho-ti had neighbors who meddled with what was none of their business, just as some neighbors do now-a-days. They watched him and caught him and his graceless wight eating roast pig! Straightway they were brought before a jury-and they had jurors in those days-to answer to the laws of the country for their humble offence! The trial proceeded, the offence was plumply proved, when all at once the foremen of the jury took it into his head to have a roast pig brought into court; and forthwith the pig was handed into the box. He

To the establishment of a national bank there exists, in the minds of many honest men, power in our government to create such an institution; and the second, the danger that it may exercise too great a power over the rights and liberties of the community.

The want of constitutional power is a grave objection, as entertained by some of the most enlightened minds in the country; and is entitled to respectful consideration.

Granting that the constitution has not expressly conceded the power of establishing a bank to the general government, it follows that the right of creating one, is reserved to the people, to be exercised whenever they think fit,

BOSTON CORRESPONDENCE.

Boston, March 2, 1840.

Notwithstanding the clouds of another " panic." still hover over the busines world in the United States, a sits breeze will soon spring up (if I am not mistaken by ess indications) from the natural enterprise of the people. of that will dispel those clouds and restore business to its wonted vigor, and those politicians, who calculate are upon overthrowing the national administration, by say, charging it as the cause of these ' hard times' and keeps an- ing the panic alive until after the fall elections, will I neut trust, soon reckon without their host. As a speedy tors : harbinger of general reaction in business among us, le by we find the latest commercial news from Europe highly tisfy cheering and gratifying. The money market in Engthe land was easier, stocks were rising. The state of trade usly in Manchester was improving, and cotton per pound tion in price had advanced. A sound currency is all that the is needed in our beloved country to make business as find uniform in its operations from year to year as any of visi- the physical laws. Paper issues must be restricted, the and the precious metals take their places. An extening sive circulation of gold and silver in our country for to the common purposes of life, and the reasonable emiscel a sion of bank bills of a denomination not less than five gen. dollars, from institutions able at all times to meet the their liabilities, would soon cause panics to be known nd a only by a history of the past.

as it The measure of "bank reform" is by no means a strictly party movement in the Legislature here. Many me whigs and all the democrats are for it An Hon. neen whig Schator from Suffolk has submitted an order the that the committee on banks and banking be directed to inquire into the expediency and constitutionality of all requiring from the banks of this Commonwealth to keep in their vaults in specie at all times ten per cent. of their capital; and in case by demand on any bank for specie, the amount should be reduced below the sum of ten per cent. aforesaid, that the said bank ax be prohibited from discounting until the amount of al, specie is restored. Thus you see the hard money sysall tem is looking up in the Senate of Massachusetts. I was the system of the framers of our national and State Constitutions from which their recreant sons

A State temperance convention has been held at the Marlboro' Chapel. The whole number of delegates present were one thousand, four hundred and sevents nine. Among them were individuals of great respectability and influence. The resolutions, seventeen in number, were such as every friend of temperance must approve, if we except the partizan character that a few of the resolves are tinctured. This is deeply to be regretted, as political action on this most desired of all moral reforms is to be deprecated. There was a want of unanimity in the proceedings of the convention in reference to legislative action, which met with no compromise before the separation of its members. With all the difference among men as to the specific mode of advancing the temperance cause. it must flourish because its principles are based on red righteousness. It has the good of man at heart, and if we the proper weapons of moral suasion and example are used, it will go on conquering and to conquer. The fierce passions and unholy propensities of men can be corrected by mental conviction, or an appeal to the best feelings of the human heart.

Truly, Boston is the Athens of America. Every and night some renowned orator is holding forth on some our branch of the clogy, science or politics. I am informed that upwards of sixteen thousand persons attended at the three hundred and forty different lectures in this all city the past year, at a cost of twelve thousand dollars. Well may Boston be called the "Interary emporium." The small pox is vanishing from this city. Only a few deaths from this disease occurred the last week. The proceedings of the Legislature, since my last, wed have been of interest. An effort is making to re-esand tablish a toll on Warren Bridge; but public opinion is of decidedly adverse to it, and the attempt will be abor-e tive at least this session.

The great militia bill of last year, which cost a ini- thousand dollars to print, has been again introduced. ser- Several young lawyers were employed in turn to wade de, through the fifty sections, finishing the job in the nly course of five hours labor. It passed to a second own reading, with the alterations, that the term of service ur- be lengthened to thirty-five years of age-fines to be of collected by court martials, and paid to the clerks of made the courts before which they are proved, instead of be in- into the State Treasury. Peristaltic Lozenges; AN APPROVED REMEDY FOR

COSTIVENESS & DYSPEPSIA. THIS medicine is not put forth as a universal nostrum calculated to cure all the diseases incident to humanity, but rather as a means of preventing them. It may safely be stated that nine tenths of the most serious maladies arise from an unhealthy action of the stomach and bowels, or liver, inducing, as a natural consequence, indigestion and its results; such as Headache, Acidity of the Stomach, Heartburn, Flatuleney, Nausea, Lowness of Spirits, Jaundice and a whole catalogue of other complaints, which may be entirely removed by a timely and persevering use of this remedy. after their operation has ceased, a torpidity of the stomach and bowels, producing consequences which their administration was intended to correct. Such effects will not follow the use of these Lozenges.

To females in delicate health.

The Peristaltic Lozenges are strongly recommended to the notice of every lady, having obtained the sanc-tion and approbation of several eminent gentlemen of the Medical Profession, as a safe and valuable medicine in removing obstructions and relieving all other inconveniences to which the femele frame is liable, especially those which arise at an early period of life, from want of exercise and general debility of the system. They create an appetite, correct indigestion, re-move giddiness and nervous headache, and are eminently useful in windy disorders, pains in the stomach, shortness of breath and palpitation of the heart. Being perfectly innocent they can be taken at any time and under any circumstances. The most delicate female, when an aperient is required, may have recourse to them, and they will act as a preventative against the nervous and hysterical affections which so frequently arise from continued constipation.

To Seafaring people and Travellers generally . To individuals travelling, more particularly seafaring persons, when from change of habit or climate, the liver and bowels become mactive, and costiveness follows as an invariable result, these Lozenges will prove invaluable. One individual writes-" I consider nyself cured of costiveness, to which I was always subject the moment I left the land, solely by the use of your medicine." The proprietor is continually re-ceiving orders from his seafaring friends for the Lozenges. When they are to be carried to sea they ought packed and put into tight bottles. In this way they may be kept good for any length of time.

The very questionable reputation which a medicine derives from the fashionable practice of publishing a long lists of certificates from persons, whom nobody knows, has induced the proprietor to forego the oppor tunity of offering to the public, the many commenda tions which he is daily receiving of these Lozenges, trusting rather to their own merits, which will be apparent to all on trial, and the respectability of his numerous agents. These Lozenges have been in use for two years ;-

the general approbation they have met with, from the NING next, commencing at seven o'clock precisely. first families, establishes their merits and makes further remarks unnecessary. Cooking Stoves.

THE subscribers have for sale Hathaway's Patent Hot Air Cooking Stoves. These Stoves are said to be superior to any thing of the kind yet invented. They are so constructed that they may be used in summer without any disagreeable effects from the heat, and in winter (by changing the position of the Stove) the same fuel will produce a very great amount of heat in the room. As evidence of the value and convenience of these Stoves, we offer the following recommendation from the Rev. Daniel Leach, formerly of this town, selected from a great number of testimonials we have seen, given by different individuals who have used this kind of Stove.

J. G. HATHAWAY. Sir-In answer to your inquiries respecting the Stove I procured of you a short time since, I have no hesitation in saying, that it is, in my opinion, decidedly superior to every other cooking apparatus with which I am acquainted. From experiments which I have made, I am satisfied that it is admirably fitted for every kind of cooking; and that there is a saving of one half of the fuel usually consumed in stoves of the same dimensions. In fine, I consider it " ne plus ultra" of human invention in cook-

Life of Harrison.

THE life of Gen. William Henry Harrison, price 1 20 cents, for sale at the QUINCY BOOKSTOBE.

Quincy, Feb. 15

You think, I'd like to sell some acres, Bought of western speculators-Now to be frank, without detail, I never offered, sir, for sale An acre of my western lands, I choose to keep them in my hands ; They'll yield me more than twelve per cent. With funds so vested I'm content. To all, whom I urge to go west, I sav, buy public land you'd best-For such land, you well know, the taker Pays only 'seven and six' per acre. But then, you think, men will be slow To go there, although lands are low. The town where I go, any how, Contains some hundred Yankees now, And I have company to go there, Though not a "favorite femina."

You think, good water there is dear, I found it plentiful as here-Some, I admit, drink river water. And they drink with it something hotter; So, some sleep in the open air, Too lazy to build any where. To dig good wells there cost no more, Than in this hard Atlantic shore.

But then, "the fever and the ague, In summer and in autumn plague you.' I've suffered more from those diseases Caused here by chilly, eastern breezes; Western sickness has its sources Chiefly on the water courses--The dry and inland towns are healthy, But men, impatient to get wealthy, Will settle down beside the rivers, And thus contract disordered livers. Stagnant water, fogs and dew If shunned, diseases would be few.

Now let me a few lines employ, On what I've seen in Illinois. Some farmers keep a hundred cows, Which on the public prairie browse-And so of horses, hogs and sheep, As great a number many keep; Down near that State's more southern border, All winter long they scarce need fodder. And fast as they are sent to market, They bring cash to the farmer's pocket. Put forty acres in a field. One man and horse will make it yield A hundred bushels to the acre. Of corn to suit the nicest quaker. So wheat in like profusion grows, And every crop the farmer sows.

But clothing, you think, must come high, And all such things as farmers buy-Steam-factories out in Illinois Some thousand people now employ ; The coal, being so abundant there, Can outdo water-power here. And why not western folks get money, With all their meat, grain, wool and honey? The lead-mines too make many rich, And salt-springs, found in many a ditch. The native mulberry there yields silk. As freely as the cows give milk.

Land of the west-green prairie land ! Favorite of nature's liberal hand ! Broad plains which thousand wild-herds dot, And streams, whose likeness earth has not, Skies softly beautiful and blue, Flowers rich as morning's run-rise hue, Deep groves with many a vine-hung bower-But to portray thee, words lack power. Land of the west from coming time, Thine is a destiny sublime ! Thou holdest forth a welcome warm To greet the onward pressing swarm-On they will come, with hearts that ne'er Can bow, a tyrants chain to wear. From Alleghany's base to where The Rocky Mountains rise in air, The land with freemen strong shall teem, And commerce glide on every stream ; And should some wild, intestine feud E'er drench our country's soil with blood, Still FREEDOM's banner there shall wave, Till her last warrior finds his grave.

ANECDOTES.

A Bold Fellow. Frederic the Great, after a very terrible engagement, asked his officers "Who behaved most intrepidly during the contest?" The preference was unanimously given to himself. "You are all mistaken," replied the king; "the boldest fellow was gagement, and he did not cease to vary a note the whole time."

PROMPT ANSWER. Chateauneuf, keeper of the seals of Lewis XIII, when a boy of only nine years old, was asked many questions by a bishop, and gave very prompt answers to them all. At length the prelate said, "I will give you an orange if you will tell me where God is." "My Lord," replied the boy, "I will give you two oranges if you will tell me where he sale cheap for cash, by

Tomato Pills.

THE extraordinary virtues of these Pills, in a great degree, depend upon a new and hitherto unknown vegetable principle, which was, after laborious investigation, discovered and first used as a medicine by the author; and from its being first obtained from the Tomato Plant, he has denominated it Tomatine. His attention was first called to the subject in the summer of 1835, by the following circumstances.

Two cases of inveterate disease of long standing (one of consumption, the other scrofula, combined with the imprudent use of calomel) both considered hopeless, and both having been abandoned as incurable, were accidentally cured by the extravagant use of Tomatoes JOHN A. GREEN, Agent for the following among other valuable publications, begs leave to solicit attempts of the solicit attemp sulted in discovering and concentrating this new principle, upon which its activity as a remedy depends. This was found upon trial in some cases of scrofula and glandular diseases, to exert a most powerful and salutary influence, far exceeding the most sanguine expectations. Later and more extended use and observation has proved it to be peculiarly applicable to all diseases of the blood, indigestion, obstructions, weakness, etc.

That the benefits of this remedy may be within the means of all, it is put up in boxes containing thirty pills, at 37 1-2 cents per box, with full-directions, and may be had of the Proprietor's author sed Agents, in most of the towns in the United States. POLITICAL ECONOMY. NO. 3. The first act passed by the first Congress assembled under our constitution, recognised the right, the power and the duty of government to protect domestic industry, thus showing to the mechanics of New England that their construction of the terms of that instrument was correct, and their confidence in those who were to administer it was not misplaced. Every administration since, down to President Jackson, has not only admitted the constitutionality, but also the propriety of protection to this

True it is, that many important branches of domestic industry found sufficient protection in a revenue tariff-and for many years the question slumbered, but it was never lost sight of or forgotten. Under Jefferson and Madison, the loudest advocate of free trade never thought of repealing the duty on raw cotton or of admitting foreign ships into our ports on the same terms as our own. It was not till cotton had become one of the great staples of our export trade and was placed entirely beyond the fear of foreign competition, that the southerner would have listened with temper to any proposition for a reduction of the duty on that article. And it was not till experience had proved the superiority of our ships and seamen over foreigners, that the thought of reciprocity treaties was ever indulged in. Even at this day our shipwrights are jealously protected, and we cannot purchase a foreign built ship, were she offered at our own wharves at half her value. and sail her under the American flag.

Now let this system be abandoned-give us free trade indeed and the shipwrights of Quincy and Cobasset must abandon their occupation and find employment in other business, or emigrate to the Provinces of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, where ship timber can be had for the cutting, and ships can be built twentyfive per cent. cheaper than in Massachusetts.

The fisherman is protected by a bounty of four dollars per ton and a duty on the importation of foreign fish. Abandon this system and he too, will find it for his interest to leave his home and carry on his business on the shores of Nova Scotia, Cape Breton, Prince Edward's Island and Newfoundland-where the fish come up to his door and may be taken and cured without the expensive outfit he now incurs, for he never can compete with the inhabitants of those countries when our market is thrown open to them on equal terms.

Can it be, then, that the industrious, enterprising shipwrights and fishermen of Massachusetts will be among the foremost to join in the cry of "free trade"? Prosperous, happy as they have been under the system of protection, are they ready to throw down the barrier that shuts out foreign competition and thereby secures to them prosperity and happiness, for the precarious chance of getting a hat, coat or a pair of shoes a very little cheaper? Are they willing to throw away their whole means of purchasing for the probability of being able to purchase a few articles at a lower price? LINCOLN.

SOCIETY.

We have now taken a cursory view of four of the principal evils which have been wickedly diffused throughout the world, to mar the happiness of man by destroying all accommodation and sociability between him and his fellow. Numerous others, of perhaps equal enormity might be mentioned, but as the too frequent visits of even friends are tiresome, probably the readers of the Patriot think that they would not, for the world, trouble me to speak of them. So I guess that I will be wise enough to take the hint ' without a kick,' and let this be my concluding communication, upon the subject of society, at least. However, if any are disposed to think that the reason of my now closing is because that I have told my story and can say nothing more, they are informed (though I scorn to boast) that there are a few

QUINCY LYCEUM.

The twentieth lecture before this institution was by Dr. J. V. C. Smith of Boston. His subject was Geolo gy, and we were highly gratified with the entertainment in some respects, particularly with his style-his manner of delivery, and the display of industrious and persevering research which it exhibited. His style was not only good but truly elegant. His manner of lecturing was not merely pleasing but graceful, and we must say we are at a loss to know how a man who is shackled and tied down by such a weight of professional duties as the Doctor can find time and elasticity of mind to investigate a subject of this kind so the roughly as he has done. Thus much and more we could say in commendation of the lecturer's talents.

The proosed amendment of the State Constitution has met the concurrent action of two successive Legisla-, two thirds of the House of Representatives and jority of the Senate, and awaits only the sanction the people to become a supreme law of the land. he amendment you know embraces four distinct opositions, the most important of which relates to e House of Representatives-and it proposes that I towns having twelve hundred inhabitants shall be ntitled to one representative and for every additional venty-four hundred inhabitants one additional repreentative. It admits of grave objections of which I n only give a bird's eye view. One hundred and re towns in the State have each less than twelve indred inhabitants, which by this new arrangement ill be virtually disfranchised from an annual reprentation. Again, a town of thirty-five hundred and nety-nine inhabitants will have but one representawhile a town about one third less will be as fully presented. Here is a departure from equality, a adamental principle in our social compact. Many of e small towns in the State, increase but little in pop-series of School Books, entitled The Comprehensive Readers.

THEY ARE AS FOLLOWS. THE FIRST READER, for the use of Schools,

THE SECOND READER, for the use of Schools, THE THIRD READER, for the use of Schools, by S. G. GOODRICH.

THE FOURTH READER, for the use of Schools, by S. G. GOODRICH. To this series, the publishers respectfully ask the attention of teachers, parents and the public generally. It is believed that they are an important improvement, and must afford the greatest advantages to teachers and pupils of all schools where they are introduced. Their design is—

1. To cultivate the art of reading in an easy, distinct and pleasing manner. 2. To stimulate the thinking faculties, by making the pupil understand what he reads, and by inter-

3. To cultivate the sentiments of justice truth, candor, kindness and charity. These works are now introduced in some of our leading schools. The following are among the numerous notices of them, received from various esting his feelings in the subject.

These books have been prepared with great care, by one of long practice and great skill in the communication of knowledge to the young. The volumes of the series are well fitted to the end for which they were designed .- Annals of Education. We have examined these Readers with great care.

The result is an opinion that, in many respects, they are superior to all preceding school-readers, and in none inferior.—Louisville Advertiser.

The series is well calculated to give impetus to the mental powers, to develop the moral faculties and improve the manners. In mechanical execution, these books surpass all others of the kind which have fallen under our observation .- New York Star. These admirable school books are, if we mistake not.

destined to supersede all other similar publications in our seminaries for the instruction of the young.

New York Sun. On a full examination and comparison, our conviction is, that these books are better calculated than any others we know to make good readers, "to establish the habit of reading with the full co-operation of the mind," and at the same time to convey useful knowledge, impart virtuous sentiments, and cultivate the taste.

Louisville Journal.

We are sure, if they were generally introduced into our primary schools, the tasks of teachers would be much easier and the improvement of their scholars much facilitated.—Albany Argus.

These volumes embrace a great variety of articles, inculcating a correct morality, reverence for religion, and a love of nature. They are full of life and spirit, and quite unlike the dry and incomprehensible selections which fill too many of the compilations for schools. Brother Jonathan.

These books are of the inductive order, so arranged as to lure the pupil on step by step, and cause him to be astonished when he reaches the Fourth Reader that he has learned so much with so little trouble. Philadelphia Herald and Sentinel.

These volumes, from the pen of the well-known author of Peter Parley's Tales, strike us as a great improvement upon the various works of the kind hitherto published.—New York Times.

These Readers seem to us perfect works of their kind. New York Gazette. We think that, in interesting matter for children, clearness and intelligibility, and purity of sentiment, they are unequalled by any works now in use in our schools.—Baptist Banner.

The strong excitement afforded to this exercise of the intellect in the youthful reader, throughout the whole of this series, cannot fail, we think, to secure the beneficial influence of this principle, in a degree not hitherto generally attained.—Hartford Congregationalist. We would express in a most unqualified manner our opinion in favor of the little volumes before us. They are superior to any thing of the kind we have ever before examined.—News Letter.

We are constrained to say that the volumes now before us strike us as a great improvement upon the various works of the kind which have hitherto appeared. Some of the lessons are indeed models of composition for children—simple and lively, sometimes humorous and sometimes pathetic.—New World, N. Y.

Extracts of Letters from Teachers. They are admirably adapted to the purposes for LANG COTTON. T. CROSBY, JR.

We can and do most sincerely commend this series which they are intended. I fully concur in the above. I should rejoice to see these works universally introduced into our schools. R. Hewitt, Hudson Acad.

They cannot fail to have the happiest effect on the youthful mind. P. D. Pelton, Principal of La Grange Seminary.

But these works possess a higher claim to the patronage of teachers and parents, in the beautiful illustrations of morals they contain. V. V. Baldwin.

They cannot fail to form elegant and accomplished

Terms of Tuition. For new scholars, seven dollars for twenty-four lessons, and five dollars for his former by approved teachers.

His Pupils will be taught the above accomplishment in the most modern style, with a great variety of new and pleasing figures. Mr. Stimson will pay especial attention to the Manners and Deportment of the Pupils entrusted to his charge, and fit them for correct carriage and address in the Drawing Room. (By the polite this is truly considered an essential part of Dancing tuition.) The opinion of the immortal Lock is estimable, as it clearly shows the importance that great man attached to dancing, as a gentlemanty accomplishment, and a primary introduction into company,. Dancing, being that which gives graceful motion to all our limbs, and becoming confidence to young people, I think, cannot be learned too early. Nothing appears to me to give young people so much confidence and behavior, and raise them to the conversation of those above their years, as dancing."

Peristaltic Lozenges;

AN APPROVED REMEDY FOR COSTIVENESS & DYSPEPSIA.

THIS medicine is not put forth as a universal nos-trum calculated to cure all the diseases incident to humanity, but rather as a means of preventing them. It may safely be stated that nine tenths of the most serious maladies arise from an unhealthy action of the stomach and bowels, or liver, inducing, as a natural at the lowest prices; consequence, indigestion and its results; such as Headache, Acidity of the Stomach, Heartburn, Flatuleney, Nausea, Lowness of Spirits, Jaundice and a whole catalogue of other complaints, which may be ble, drake-neck and bottle green, Oxford mixt. entirely removed by a timely and persevering use of this remedy.

black, drab, slate, lavender, Oxford and steel mixt, The most cogent objection to Aperients in general is, that containing some drastic purgative, they leave, after their operation has ceased, a torpidity of the stomach and bowels, producing consequences which their brown and black. administration was intended to correct. Such effects will not follow the use of these Lozenges.

To females in delicate health.

The Peristaltic Lozenges are strongly recommended claret. to the notice of every lady, having obtained the sanction and approbation of several eminent gentlemen of the Medical Profession, as a safe and valuable medicine in removing obstructions and relieving all other inconveniences to which the female frame is liable, especially those which arise at an early period of life, from want of exercise and general debility of the system. They create an appetite, correct indigestion, remove giddiness and nervous headache, and are eminently useful in windy disorders, pains in the stomach, shortness of breath and palpitation of the heart: Being perfectly innocent they can be taken at any time and under any circumstances. The most delicate female, when an aperient is required, may have recourse to them, and they will act as a preventative against the nervous and hysterical affections which so frequently arise from continued constipation.

To Seafaring people and Travellers generally! To individuals travelling, more particularly seafaring persons, when from change of habit or climate, the deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all iver and bowels become inactive, and costiveness follows as an invariable result, these Lozenges will prove invaluable. One individual writes-" I consider myself cured of costiveness, to which I was always subject the moment I left the land, solely by the use Creditors of Caleb T. Bassett. of your medicine." The proprietor is continually receiving orders from his seafaring friends for the Lozenges. When they are to be carried to sea they ought always to be started from the box in which they are packed and put into tight bottles. In this way they may be kept good for any length of time.

The very questionable reputation which a medicine derives from the fashionable practice of publishing a long lists of certificates from persons, whom nobody knows, has induced the proprietor to forego the oppor tunity of offering to the public, the many commendations which he is daily receiving of these Lozenges, trusting rather to their own merits, which will be apparent to all on trial, and the respectability of his nu-

These Lozenges have been in use for two years ;the general approbation they have met with, from the first families, establishes their merits and makes further remarks unnecessary. They are packed in boxes which may be carried in the pocket and sold at fifty cents per box. This medicine enjoys the highest reputation

One vrey common objection urged by those who but partially understand the principle of curing disease by purgation, as promulgated by the North American Colof Health, is that although reiterated purging will raise objections, appear to forget, that purging is as natural to the bowels, as walking is to the feet or labor to sizes the hands; and like every other function must be duly exercised in order to retain their energies.

What man in his senses would think of depriving his children of exercise, in order that they might be STRENGTHENED by activity? And yet this absordity is no greater, than the infatuation of those, who imagine the bowels can be injured by performing their NAT-URAL FUNCTIONS; or that disease can be cured by any other medicine than such as will remove the CAUSE from the body.

Nature is constantly giving us examples of the salutary effects of purging. We find her perseveringly employed, not only in carrying off the residium of the natural food, by the daily evacuations of the bowels; but we frequently see her by a natural diarrhea, cure some of our most obstinate complaints.

Nature, by always adopting this one plea in the cure of disease, points most emphatically to the course she would have us pursue. She seems to say in the most inviting manner, come, follow my example; cease BLE PURGATIVES, which being natured to our constitu The Rev. C. C. P. Crosby, late editor of the American AND HEALTH.

All individuals can see him alone at any time, at the above place. Having had eighteen years experience and afforded relief to fifteen hundred persons for the last three years, all may rest assured of relief who call and try Trusses of his manufacture, and he is confident he can give every individual relief who may be disposed to call on him.

The public are cautioned against the many quacks who promise what they cannot perform. Having worn the different kinds of Trusses, more or less, that have been offered to the public for the last twenty years, from the different patent manu factories, and now continues to wear those of his own manufacture, he is now able to decide, after examining the rupture, what sort of Truss is best to adapt to all the different cases that occur, and he has on hand as good Trusses, and will furnish any kind of Truss as cheap as can be had elsewhere. Any person that purchases a Truss at this establishment, if it does not suit, can exchange until they are well suited without extra charge. The subscriber manufactures as many as twenty different kinds of Trusses, among which are the dif ferent kinds similar to those that the late Mr. John Beath, of this city, formerly made, together with the Patent Elastic Spring Truss, with spring pads; Trusses without steel springs—these give relief in all cases of rupture, and in a large portion produce a per feet cure -they can be worn day and night; improv ed Hinge and Pivot Truss; Umbilical Spring Trusses, made in four different ways; Trusses with ball and socket joints; Trusses for Prolapsus Ani, by wearing which, persons troubled with a decant of the rectum can ride on horseback with perfect ease and safety. Mr. F. also makes Trusses for Prolapsus and Back Boards are always kept on hand. As a matter of convenience and not of speculation, the undersigned will keep on hand the following kinds from other manufactories, which they can have; if his do not suit them after a fair trial, they can exchange for any of them :-Dr. Hull's; Reed's Spiral Truss: Rundell's do: Farr's do; Salmon's Ball and Socket; Sherman's Patent; French do; Marsh's Improved Truss; Bateman's do; Shaker's Rocking Trusses; Heintzleman's India Rubber Pad, made in Philadelphia; Ivory turned Pad Trusses; Stone's do double and single; also Trusses for children of all

Any kind of Trusses repaired at short notice and made as good as when new.

Ladies wishing for any of these instruments will be waited upon by Mrs. Foster at the above place. The subscriber makes and keeps on hand STEEL-ED SHOES for deformed and crooked feet, and is doing this every week for children and infants in this city, and from out of the city. Specimens of his workmanship may be seen at the manufactory.

He also informs individuals that he will not make their complaints known to any one, except when he is permitted to refer to them-it being a misfortune, and young persons do not want their cases known. Tomato Pills.

THE extraordinary virtues of these Pills, in a great L. degree, depend upon a new and hitherto unknown vegetable principle, which was, after laborious investigation, discovered and first used as a medicine by the author; and from its being first obtained from the Tomato Plant, he has denominated it Tomatine. His attention was first called to the subject in the summer of 1835, by the following circumstances.

Two cases of inveterate disease of long standing (one of consumption, the other scrofula, combined with the imprudent use of calomel) both considered hopeless and both having been abandoned as incurable, were accidentally cured by the extravagant use of Tomatoes for food. This, together with the incidental remarks sulted in discovering and concentrating this new principle, upon which its activity as a remedy depends. This was found upon trial in some cases of scrofula salutary influence, far exceeding the most sanguine expectations. Later and more extended use and observation has proved it to be peculiarly applicable to all Prepared only by Dr. D. THE THIRD READER, for the use of Schools, by S. G. GOODRICH. THE FOURTH READER, for the use of Schools, by S. G. GOODRICH.

To this series, the publishers respectfully ask the attention of teachers, parents and the public generally. It is believed that they are an important improvement, and must afford the greatest advantages to teachers and pupils of all schools where they are introduced. Their design is—

1. To cultivate the art of reading in an easy, distinct and pleasing manner. 2. To stimulate the thinking faculties, by making the pupil understand what he reads, and by interesting his feelings in the subject. 3. To cultivate the sentiments of justice, truth, candor, kindness and charity. These works are now introduced in some of our leading schools. The following are among the numerous notices of them, received from various These books have been prepared with great care, by one of long practice and great skill in the commun

Mr. Stimson will pay especial attention to the Manners and Deportment of the Pupils entrusted to his charge, and fit them for correct carriage and address in the Drawing Room. (By the polite this is truly considered an essential part of Dancing tuition.) The opinion of the immortal Lock is estimable, as it clearly shows the importance that great man attached to dancing, as a gentlemanly accomplishment, and a primary introduction into company,. "Dancing, being that which gives graceful motion to all our limbs, and becoming confidence to young people, I think, cannot be learned too early. Nothingappears to me to give young people so much confidence and behavior, and raise them to the conversation of those above their years, as dancing." Quincy, March 7.

Hunt's Merchant's Magazine.

THIS periodical is devoted exclusively to the interests and wants of the business community; and in this respect differs in its character, we believe, from any Magazine either in this country or in Europe. It is intended to be literally and truly a useful work. Its contents embrace every subject connected with commerce and political economy; Essays from ablest pens on Banking, Mercantile Law, Navigation, Manufactures, Insurance, etc, form part of the contents of each number. The Merchants' Magazine is also a repository for authentic statistical information of Trade, Commerce, Banking, and the staple products of the country and the world, collected from official sources, embodied and classified in tables, valuable for present and future

J. G. HATHAWAY. Sir-In answer to your inquiries respecting the Stove I procured of you a short time since, I have no hesitation in saying, that it is, in my opinion, decidedly superior to every other cooking apparatus with which I am acquainted. From experiments which I have made, I am satisfied that it is admirably fitted for every kind of cooking; and that there is a saving of one half of the fuel usually consumed in stoves of the same dimensions. In fine, I consider it " ne plus ultra" of human invention in cook-DANIEL LEACH. ing stoves.

Corn and Meal,

RETROSPECTION ! What various thoughts the soul immerse. As with the past we hold converse; How mem'ry helps the rising thought, And gives fresh life to things forgot. 'Tis when alone, in stranger land, A stranger we 'mong strangers stand, The tender thought our bosom thrills, Of by-gone joys and former ills. Then seems our infant breath the cheeks To fan; then guileless, childish freaks, Like yester deeds, are brought to mind-When we were wont to seek and find True love and friendship, pure as air, Unmingled with corroding care. We see, alas! with fond regret Our youthful sun in manhood set. Then, think we, how ambition strong Entrapp'd us in her iron thong, Dragg'd our inward passions up,

And bade us drink that bitter cup

Of disappointment, running o'er,

With hope deferr'd and anguish sore.

Then, how our plans and hopes of bliss

Have failed; then, sick'ned, grown remiss, We've yielded to temptation strong, And felt the pangs of doing wrong. But sweetest thought, most holy, best, That thrills the lonely stranger's breast, Is friendship's sympathizing tear, That bid us banish every fear. While tossing on the sea of life, 'Mid cold neglect and bustling strife-When all the springs of life were chill'd, And heav'd the soul with sorrow fill'd-When goodly deeds were unrequited, And future hopes well near were blighted-When sickness too had done her part, To empty quite the wretched heart-What voice is heard, what cheering voice, To bid 'awake, be calm, rejoice?' What hand extends, nor boots the shame, To soothe and aid the feverish frame? Who speaks in gentlest accents sweet, To cause the icy heart to beat? When rage and envy made their aim, To scorn, revile and blast our fame, Who boldly come their aid to lend! Aye, who? ask not; it was a friend.

Oh, holy friendship! pure, sincere-The bliss of heav'n, our glory here: Thy tones must touch the searest heart, And cause the sluggish pulse to start-Will strike the finest cords within, Persuade to good, deter from sin. Oh! what emotions inward rise, And seem to waft us to the skies, When thus alone, are call'd to mind The friends we've left far, far behind. Thus touch'd, can heart so recreant prove, To e'er forget the friends we love? No, no; far hence, begone the thought, That e'er such deeds can be forgot; 'Tis distance makes the tie that binds More strong, in such according minds.

Tomato Pills.

THE extraordinary virtues of these Pills, in a great L. degree, depend upon a new and hitherto unknown vegetable principle, which was, after laborious investigation, discovered and first used as a medicine by the author; and from its being first obtained from the Tomato Plant, he has denominated it Tomatine. His attention was first called to the subject in the summer of Philadelphia) and applied some liniment to the throat ing in harmony with our constitution, it is always the imprudent use of calomel) both considered hopeless. and both having been abandoned as incurable, were accidentally cured by the extravagant use of Tomatoes for food. LESSON OF EXPERIENCE. Auto-Biography of a Tobacco Chewer.

Reader, I am a tobacco chewer. Yes, and I co well remember the time when I first became arquainted with the delicious sweets of tobacco. I was but a mere stripling, attending a district school, when, as the weather was fair for hay- th making, one summer's morning, my father kept me at home to give me an opportunity to regale myself among the grasshoppers of the field. t Pleased with the exchange-the school-room for the hay field-with bouyant heart and light step I tracked my way thither. Now, father was a great consumer of tobacco, and he owned a huge iron tobacco-box, which on all common occasions, he carried in his breeches pocket. But as he was mowing this morning, and could for not very conveniently swing his scythe with his box there, he had laid it on a stump towards which I was travelling, or which stood between him and me. Seeing me making towards him, and thinking about the same time, I that he should like a fresh quid of tobacco, he 'took a notion' to have me bring along the box, and after availing himself of a noble quid, bade me replace it.

Smitten with my father's noble appearance, and believing that nothing was wanting to make a man of me excepting a quid of tobacco, I did not hesitate, the moment he turned from me, to 'help myself'-although disregarding e the wise injunction-

Vessels large may venture more,

But little boats should keep near shore." For I filled my mouth until my cheeks were puffed out as roundly as ever were squirrels with corn! But alas! my pride was soon humbled as much below ' pa' as it had the moment before been elevated above! In fact the scene was a reversion of the 'fish-story.' For had Jonah swallowed the whale and vomited him up the third day, it probably would not have required more effectual throes than those occasioned by that quid of tobacco. I do not however, mention this incident, thinking it will be of much interest to the reader, but only as a kind of data, or the first of my existence as a tobacco-chewer. Nevertheless, 'I opine' that his imagination would for once drink its fill did it but picture to itself a little pale-faced, consumptive boy, hardly out of his petticoats, attempting to raise the world by aid of Archimedes' lever, before he could comfortably support his own weight-or raise himself! For my tobacco quid would lug me down, ' two to one,' the best way that I could fix it ! Item-I had almost forgotten to inform the reader that I was not kept from school any longer than till noon of that day. For such was truly the case. And I guess to be honest I did not help much in hay-making.

From my introduction to tobacco, in the manner thus described, I found that I had no common enemy to deal with, and almost resolved never again to encounter this foe to mankind. In a few days, however, the past was shrouded in oblivion-my hanker for the poisonous 'drug' was again renewed-my purpose to possess it fixed, and no human cunning could defeat it. I was willing to sacrifice every thing for a chew of tobacco, for even life itself seemed a burden to me, languishing as I then was. I had read with tear-streaming eyes of men wandering in Sahara's parching sands. who wilted down like a flower at noon, but their cases seemed hardly comparable to mine. In truth, I must have tobacco, but how to get it I could not tell. My father, I well knew, kept it, but did not know where. However, seeing him return from the village one day, with hunk nearly comparing, in size, to a quarter o mutton, I watched with as much reserve a possible, and saw him place the 'delicious mor sel' snugly in his chest, which was kept locker as a safe for his accounts and other importan doc uments.

For several days I was on the 'look out,' i hopes to steal an opportunity when the ches might be inadvertantly left open, and pacif my craving appetite. But after a few days of fruitless lurking, under the influence of thi
